

A.G. Spanos

President - Business Operations

A.G. Spanos was named president—business operations for the Chargers in May 2015. He oversees all day-to-day business operations of the organization, including marketing, sales, public relations, digital media and community relations. He also represents the organization at all NFL and ownership meetings.

Previously, Spanos served as executive vice president—chief executive officer from 2011-15, executive vice president—executive officer from 2008-10 and director of marketing programs and business development from 2003-07.

Spanos knows that the Chargers have the ability to lift the spirits of the community and his number-one goal is and always has been to make sure the Chargers enjoy success on the field. That includes helping the franchise establish an undeniable home-field advantage. Since 2003, the Chargers have posted a winning record at home nine times, including 2006 when the Chargers went undefeated at home for the first time in franchise history. Clearly, the fans have played a huge role in this success.

Spanos stresses that Season Ticket Members are the backbone of the organization. Under his direction, the Chargers have added more value and access, and they rebranded the team's most loyal fans as Season Ticket Members. Key benefits of being a Season Ticket Member have grown to include the creation of dedicated service representatives, unique opportunities for Chargers Park and stadium tours, exclusive practice sessions at both mini-camp and training camp, an upgraded and more transparent seat relocation program and much more.

In an effort to quench Chargers fans' unending thirst for information about their team, Spanos created the organization's digital media department in 2012. The department has been instrumental in providing an endless supply of unique content available only on the team's official website, Chargers.com, while expanding the Chargers' social media footprint. Recognizing the benefits of producing web and television content in-house, Spanos led the effort to construct a new television and editing studio at Chargers Park.

Spanos attended La Jolla Country Day School in La Jolla, Calif., lettering in football and basketball. He played football as a freshman at Tufts University in Medford, Mass., before returning to California to continue his education at the University of Southern California, earning a bachelor's degree in marketing from the Marshall School of Business.

Spanos is the grandson of Owner Alex Spanos and he is the eldest son of Chairman Dean Spanos and his wife, Susie. He and his wife, Kamri, have two sons, Dean II and Leonidas Alexander.
