Dear Readers,

The interest in philanthropic giving is growing everywhere. It’s no surprise that we have seen an increase in community-minded, local businesses underwriting the nonprofits in this new edition of the Orange County Business Journal’s Giving Guide. This year, 48% of the nonprofits in this guide received underwriting support. The variety of possible approaches in philanthropy makes it quite complex, which is why the Giving Guide is an important resource. It features 61 nonprofit spreads, detailing each organization’s mission statement, service area, goals, board members, fundraising events and giving/volunteering opportunities – providing all of the information you’ll need to make your giving and volunteering decisions. In addition, you’ll find lists ranking the largest nonprofits, corporate foundations and private foundations in Orange County, along with articles that offer insight for your giving strategies and corporate community engagement plans.

Thank you to our amazing team: Julie Vo, for editing it’s content; and Rich Loyd, Martin Nilchian, Brette Miller and Tanya Halata, for graphic design. Thank you to our publication sponsors – Association of Fundraising Professionals Orange County Chapter, Microsemi, SingerLewak, Tangible Investments, Union Bank, as well as all of the underwriters of individual nonprofits featured in the Giving Guide.

I am very proud to be part of such a giving and supportive community. I hope the Giving Guide will inspire you to underwrite your favorite charity next year, so that they can reach potential donors and sponsors, and grow awareness and outreach in our community.

With sincere appreciation,

Amy Sfreddo

OC Philanthropy: Lessons in Innovation
by Shelley Hoss, President, Orange County Community Foundation

The same innovation that fuels Orange County’s economy drives best-in-class strategies in philanthropy. Between July 1 and Dec. 31, 2016, savvy philanthropists contributed nearly $60 million to funds held at the Orange County Community Foundation (OCCF), bringing our total assets to $300 million, a milestone achieved by less than 10% of U.S. community foundations. This outpouring demonstrated the best of both the head and the heart—astute financial planning coupled with a passion for charitable impact.

One of the reasons I believe philanthropy thrives in Orange County is our tradition of DIY success. Here, philanthropists are made not born, thanks to the entrepreneurial spirit that runs deep. Our economy is spurred by self-made wealth creators rather than intergenerational transfers of wealth, and this distinction makes all the difference when it comes to our county’s philanthropic potential.

Entrepreneurial givers achieve impact through disciplines such as:

Coming Together for Impact. One donor can make an individual impact, but like-minded philanthropists move the needle on a cause by working together. Donahue Schriber Chairman and CEO Pat Donahue had a vision for transforming the lives of Orange County veterans. By partnering with OCCF and fellow leaders in the real estate industry, $580,000 was raised at the inaugural OC Real Estate Luncheon in April 2016 to give Orange County veterans the welcome home they deserve.

Managing Philanthropy Like a Portfolio. Entrepreneurial philanthropists invest in the community like they manage their portfolios—with one eye on near-term strategies and the other on long-term impact. In 1998, former real estate entrepreneur Ronnie Draper worked with OCCF to establish the Helping Kids Succeed initiative, paving the way for high school students to gain access to higher education and, in many cases, become first in their families to attend college. Since then, the initiative has granted nearly $5 million, serving more than 100,000 at-risk youth.

Getting Top-Notch Advice. Savvy investors rely on expert guidance to drive performance in their portfolios, and strategic philanthropists do the same. From tax and legal guidance to the support of a philanthropic advisor like OCCF, donors who want to achieve life-changing impact from their charitable investments rely on knowledgeable partners to help guide the way.

The efforts of entrepreneurial givers are paying off, yet there’s a lot more ground to cover—issues that can be tackled with innovative strategies and entrepreneurial grit. All you need is your passion, a vision for the impact you want to make and the right partners. Fortunately in Orange County, you’re in good company. Ready, set, go!

Civic 50 Orange County: Local Companies To Be Honored That “Do Well by Doing Good”
by Daniel McQuaid, President & CEO, OneOC

Community engagement is not just for large companies. Small and mid-size companies are also increasingly expected by their employees, customers and communities to embrace socially responsible practices. Company owners and leaders are also recognizing that they can do well in business by doing good. Many Orange County companies may want a roadmap to turn their good intentions into sound business practices. Others companies are already using leading practices, but do not get the local recognition for their civic engagement that they deserve.

National Civic 50
Since 2012, the Civic 50, an initiative of the national organization, Points of Light, has annually recognized the 50 most community-minded companies across the United States with revenue over $1 billion. The sidebar illustration to the right includes surveyed findings from the national Civic 50 companies. Civic 50 companies are measured on four dimensions:

Investment: How extensively and strategically the company applies its resources to community engagement, including employee time and skills, cash, in-kind giving and leadership.

Integration: How a company’s engagement program supports business interests and integrates into business functions, or how it “does well by doing good.”

Institutionalization: How the company supports community engagement through its policies, systems and incentives.

Impact: How the company measures the social and business impact of its community engagement program.

Last year, PIMCO was the sole company headquartered in Orange County to be honored in the national Civic 50. Other national companies honored that have a presence in Orange County included AT&T, Citi, Deloitte, FedEx, KPMG, PwC, State Street, Toyota Financial Services, UPS, Verizon and Wells Fargo. OneOC is committed to inspire, equip and mobilize these corporations and more companies of all sizes to build and grow their local community engagement programs to address our most urgent local needs. One way to do so is to spotlight exemplary companies and their practices that directly benefit the Orange County community.

Civic 50 Orange County
The Orange County Business Journal will publish Orange County’s own Civic 50 on October 23, in collaboration with OneOC, and host the Civic 50 Awards luncheon on October 19 at the Hotel Irvine. The national Civic 50 survey instrument, developed by True Impact and leading corporate social responsibility researchers and thought-leaders, has been adapted to assess not just large companies with 250+ employees in Orange County, but also mid-size companies with 100-249 employees, and small organizations with less than 100 employees. Applicants will be asked to provide quantitative data and respond to multiple-choice questions that will inform the Civic 50 scoring process for only their local Orange County community engagement on four dimensions: Investment of resources, Integration, Institutionalization and Impact.

Why Participate? Civic 50 honorees can proudly declare their Civic 50 status to employees, shareholders/ownership, community stakeholders, customers and vendors. Companies can better understand how their work compares to others who play a leadership role in corporate citizenship and community engagement.

OneOC is a resource for companies to build and grow employee volunteering, charitable giving and market visibility. Visit www.oneoc.org or call 714.953.5757.

“PIMCO is honored and proud to be recognized as a national Civic 50 honoree. We believe in the transformative power of volunteering, and in building empathy, skills, relationships and communities through volunteering. Through local Civic 50 efforts, we look forward to hearing about companies of all sizes bringing care and compassion to our communities.”
– Sarah Middleton, Senior Vice President, Global Corporate Citizenship, PIMCO; Executive Director, PIMCO Foundation

“At UPS, there’s a culture that supports community service, helping us harness our collective effort in ways that make a real difference around the globe. We are your neighbors. We live and work in your community, and we are dedicated to volunteering time, sharing knowledge and donating funds to not only change lives, but transform communities.”
– Don Tefft, UPS Director of Human Resources

“We support our employees and their desire to give back to the communities where they live and work. Through charitable contributions and volunteering, our employees are deeply and personally involved in improving the health and welfare of their neighbors in Orange County.”
– Rob Falkenberg, CEO, UnitedHealthcare of California
In today’s world, the constant pressures of running highly socially responsible organizations have put significant pressure on nonprofit operations. While some organizations embrace change and quickly react, others don’t necessarily have the resources to effect change as quickly as they would like. With change comes a tremendous amount of responsibility from the organization’s leadership, but most importantly, from its board. It is wise to take things in small sections and start working one area at a time to keep things running smoothly, but at the same time, embrace the inevitable forces that continue to shape the way organizations do business and attract valuable resources.

Forward-looking and highly effective organizations make it a habit to frequently refer to their vision of why they do what they do, and similarly have boards who strategize on the most important cornerstones of that vision and mission. This idea, combined with the constant pursuit of unlocking hidden value, and driving and executing a clear plan will help any organization create value and build a lasting legacy for generations to come.

A successful plan for any organization will always require idea-based leadership and a board to take a 360 approach on all facets of the business – from financial position, risk, strategy, world-class marketing and digital tools, to the constant and crucial function of effective fundraising.

Key Areas to Consider When Building a Legacy Organization

Building Blocks for the Future
Nonprofit should not mean not profitable. The better your organization is run, the more money left over at the end of the day for program work, and ultimately your donor dollars go farther. Engage your finance team in thought leadership. Taking them out of the conservative administrative role and including them in discussions surrounding expansion, system upgrades or even fundraising ideas have proven advantageous for larger organizations. Having a strategic financial perspective involved in thought leadership brings a different light and value to organizations.

Leadership
Leadership is a call to action driving results through their vision, setting the tone at the top, leading by example and inspiring change to accomplish goals. The results are attaining your objectives by inspiring change through participant involvement, ensuring your employees bring their best to work every day and keeping focused on your mission.

Corporate Governance
The board should be regularly reviewing the organization’s Best Practices to ensure the proper balance between operations and regulation is met. The board should review policies surrounding the organization’s effectiveness and consistency with charitable mission and vision, financial accountability and transparency, and corporate ethics and compliance.

Financial Risk and Reward
Not all dollars are created equal. Boards should encourage their organizations to evaluate every new funding opportunity from the perspective of what will it cost compared to what you will gain. Taking into consideration your organization’s internal capacity to take on the project, the financial resources needed and additional burdens this may place on existing personnel. Often organizations fail to consider if this new project will distract the team from their competitive advantage. Only those projects that will advance the mission and vision of the organization and deliver the highest yield should be pursued.

Faces of Philanthropy

What inspires you to give?

We all have an expiration date. What we do with our allotted time says a lot about who we have chosen to be. We feel our world is somewhat divided between givers and takers. We either create value or become a consumer of precious resources. By creating an environment of abundance, healing, personal safety, and sense of dignity and purpose, we can have a multiplier effect on future generations; we become what we do. We become philanthropists and social healers. Honest analysis shows that after basic needs are met, many of us have capacity in terms of time and resources to contribute to better lives for others. Education, environment, medicine, conflict resolution and freedom from fear can be ultimately attainable for most. We just have to possess the honest desire to make it happen.

It's a reasonable certainty that 100 years from now, the population of our shared planet will be better for an unselfish giving decision made today.

Summarize a personal experience you’ve had working with a nonprofit that has had the greatest impact on you.

Healing in all its dimensions is a personally transformational reward. Co-chairing the successful capital campaign to raise funds for Orange County’s only academic medical center and the magnificent UCI Douglas Hospital created capacity to serve thousands upon thousands of individuals in need. Five years in the making, $50 million raised. It was the largest capital campaign in UCI’s 50-year history – and it was on time and under budget! It takes a team! Helping create Goodwill of Orange County’s Tierney Center for Veteran Services provided much-needed services for the more than 130,000 former servicemen and women and their families in our community. Thinking about the generosity of donors who made our community stronger is a continuing source of humbling pride.

What inspires you to give?

A friend shared with me that he wonders why God allows poverty, suffering and injustice. I suggested he ask God. My friend answered, “I’m afraid He will ask me the same question in return.”

This discussion inspired us to be more thoughtful about our approach to philanthropy. As a result, we developed three guiding principles to our charitable giving:

1. Will our funds have significant impact on the beneficiaries of the organization?
2. Strength of the leadership within the organization
3. Our alignment with the purpose of the organization, in other words, how will we feel when we write the check

We continue to be inspired by the great work being performed by the leadership of the organizations we support. Examples of our support are: Chairman of the Samueli Jewish Campus, funder of the Clinical Trials program at UCI Chao Cancer Center, funder of the Eureka program of Girl’s Inc., Endowment of the Chair of Chapman University’s Holocaust Education program, champion and funder of the Medical Clown program at CHOC, and founders and major donors of Congregation B’nai Israel.

Summarize a personal experience you’ve had working with a nonprofit that has had the greatest impact on you.

We’ve had wonderful personal experiences working with each of these organizations. For instance, the Eureka program at Girls Inc. was a summer program for underserved middle and high school girls with resources to accept 70 girls. When we learned there was a greater demand, we provided the funding to accept 500 girls each summer. It’s a treat to sit in on the girls’ class sessions and watch them grow. Best of all is observing their enthusiasm for their newly acquired skills and friends.

Another example was hearing about medical clowns in children’s hospitals on the East Coast, whose purpose is to put smiles on the faces of patients and their parents. After discovering there were no such programs on the West Coast, we provided the funds and recruited the needed resources for the same program at CHOC (Children’s Hospital of Orange County). We now love to periodically accompany the clowns as they make their rounds.

The pleasure is in the giving!

What inspires you to give?

For almost 40 years, I have run a successful business. It feels really good to give back to the community. I have enjoyed giving back to a good cause for as long as I can remember. My wife, Toni, has been involved with Orangewood Foundation as a foster mom. We have been foster parents for more than 20 years to approximately 150 kids. Kids are a pretty common denominator. Most people that I know don’t give back to the community for recognition; they do it because they want to share with less fortunate.

Summarize a personal experience you’ve had working with a nonprofit that has had the greatest impact on you.

Currently, I serve as chairman of the board of Segerstrom Center for the Arts. The community knows we do fantastic artistic programming. What the community might not know is that we have more than 20 programs that serve the community, on and off campus, most of which involve kids. We serve or touch the lives of more than 300,000 children on an annual basis. Our most recent endeavor is the launch of a dance school, focusing mainly on children with physical challenges. My favorite program that we do is called, Summer at the Center. It is a two-week program where we interview and bring in approximately 40 at-risk teens and put them through a team-building exercise. Through this two-week process, these kids learn self-worth, working with others and trust. It is amazing to see these kids when they first come and are accepted, and then leave with a sparkle in their eyes. Many of these teens have never done anything artistic with dance or art. At the end of this two-week program, they perform a show. All of them are involved with this, and they sing and dance. To see these kids light up and to know that they can do this and really be involved is a joy. I encourage those who have never seen it to come. Every time I take someone, they are so amazed and astounded. To see these kids succeed, and to also hear the alumni who come back and talk about how they have turned their lives around is really powerful. It’s transformational. Not only does it change the kids, it will change you!
What inspires you to give?

I am fortunate that in my life, I received a formal education that allowed me to pursue my dreams. Being involved with organizations such as the Boys and Girls Club, The Literacy Project Foundation and Girls Inc. has given me insight into the dire need of every boy and girl having an opportunity to receive an education, so they too can pursue their dreams. These kids are eager to learn – you can see it in their faces.

Summarize a personal experience you’ve had working with a nonprofit that has had the greatest impact on you.

Each year, the Angels sponsor a clothing day for the Boys and Girls Clubs of Orange County at Angel Stadium. The objective is to clothe and feed nearly 700 children in need. It is truly moving to see the kids come to the stadium in old, worn-out clothing and witness their joy as they receive new pants, shirts, shoes, socks and underwear to start the new school year. When I see their smiles as they receive these new clothes and enjoy a hot meal, it reminds me that we all must make a commitment from the heart that supports the future of these young children. This experience has left a lasting impression on me, as well as our volunteers from the Angels organization. This goodwill event has inspired the Angels to continue this program as we have for the past seven years, and are looking forward to continuing this necessary program for many years to come.

What inspires your company to give?

At Masimo, our mission is to improve patient outcomes and reduce the cost of care. Our innovations in non-invasive monitoring help improve and save lives. Helping to save lives – giving back as much as possible, whenever and wherever we can – has always felt like a natural extension of what we do. We believe that we should all do everything in our power to help improve the world, one act of kindness at a time.

Summarize a personal experience you’ve had working with a nonprofit that has had the greatest impact on you.

My career has brought me into almost daily contact with the doctors, nurses and hospital administrators who work so hard to make a difference, and who have incredible stories both of success and often of preventable, regrettable failure. In the U.S. alone, it’s estimated that 200,000 patients die each year as a result of preventable mistakes – and millions more worldwide. That’s why, in 2012, I founded the Patient Safety Movement Foundation, which brings together health care providers, engineers, executives, governments, patient advocates and many others to further our goal of eliminating preventable deaths by 2020. Through discussion, collaboration, data sharing and Actionable Patient Safety Solutions that help medical facilities put safer practices into place, we’ve helped save almost 70,000 lives to date that would otherwise have been lost to medical error – and this is just the beginning. In addition, more than 70 medical technology companies have made the pledge to share their data, creating an ecosystem for algorithm engineers to develop predictive algorithms that help save patients’ lives. It’s been humbling, heartbreaking and inspiring to volunteer alongside so many dedicated, passionate people – all working to advance a cause which affects us all.

June 21, 2017

The Longest Day is all about love. Love for all those affected by Alzheimer’s disease. On the summer solstice, team up with the Alzheimer’s Association and select any activity you love – or an activity loved by those affected – to help end Alzheimer’s. Together, we will raise funds and awareness for care and support while advancing research toward the first survivor of Alzheimer’s.

"As a practicing Pediatric Ophthalmologist, I have children with severe visual disabilities that leave them legally blind. There is nothing the medical profession can do for these children, but Blind Children’s Learning Center provides the tools for them to live successful, independent lives.”

-Dr. Ashish Mehta, Board Member and Honorary Walk Chair — Southern California Permanente Medical Group

“Blind Children’s Learning Center is a unique organization providing individualized critical services for children with visual impairments, in addition to addressing the needs of their families. Practicing ophthalmology for over 12 years, my passion is eye care and to preserve vision. But when vision is lost, the Center gives these children and their families hope with the training to reach their path to independence.”

FUNDRAISING EVENTS

Cystinosis research progress is funded by donations from Cystinosis Research Foundation’s Annual Natalie’s Wish Celebration, Fore a Cure Golf Tournament and donations from cystinosis family events held throughout the year.

Natalie’s Wish Celebration

Saturday, April 1, 2017 – Island Hotel, Newport Beach, CA

The evening of celebration honors the children and adults who are affected by cystinosis and the cystinosis research community for its commitment to the cystinosis community. In 2003, when Natalie Stack was 12 years old, she scribbled her birthday wish on a napkin – to have my disease go away forever. That wish was the catalyst for her parents, Nancy and Geoffrey Stack to form the Cystinosis Research Foundation. This inspirational evening will feature a performance by Us The Duo, an award-winning American folk pop duo and YouTube sensation.

In 2016, Natalie’s Wish Celebration was rated the #1 Charity Fundraising Gala by the Orange County Business Journal, raising $3.3 million for research.

Natalie’s Wish Fore a Cure Golf Tournament

Monday, October 16, 2017 – Pelican Hill Golf Club, Newport Beach, CA

Cystinosis Research Foundation had another record-breaking year raising $441,055 for cystinosis research at the Natalie’s Wish Ninth Annual Fore a Cure Golf Tournament at Pelican Hill Golf Club. The tournament was ranked one of the Top Five Golf Tournaments by the Orange County Business Journal.

Established in 2003
Cystinosis is a rare, metabolic disease that slowly destroys the body’s organs, including the kidneys, liver, eyes, muscles, bone marrow, thyroid and brain. There is medication to control some of the symptoms of the disease, but cystinosis remains incurable.

When Nancy and Jeff Stack established the Cystinosis Research Foundation in 2003 they were committed to finding a cure. Never did they imagine that in just 14 years CRF would become the largest fund provider of cystinosis research in the world. With the help of dedicated champions and community members, CRF has raised $35.5 million dollars for cystinosis research and issued 151 grants in 22 countries.

Every day CRF-funded researchers and scientists work diligently to find better treatments and a cure for cystinosis. CRF is on the road to beat cystinosis and we need your help now more than ever.

“Because of Girl Scouts, I seek out healthy opportunities to develop my leadership toolkit while simultaneously changing the world.”

Girl Scouts has given Anushka the confidence to lead in all areas of her life and brought forth her passion for protecting the environment. She worked with the Huntington Beach City Council in 2014 to ban plastic shopping bags. Girls Inc. of Orange County relies on individuals, corporations, foundations, grants and relationships with organizations all over Orange County to fund our programs. With 78 cents of every dollar going directly towards our girls, the funding we receive is vital to the number of girls we can serve. We invite you to join us in supporting thousands of Orange County girls each year.

INSPIRING ALL GIRLS TO BE STRONG, SMART, AND BOLD.

Girls Inc. of Orange County has been a respected member of the non-profit community for over 60 years. The mission of Girls Inc. is to inspire all girls to be strong, smart, and bold. We put our mission into practice through the Girls Inc. experience that equips girls to navigate gender, economic, and social barriers and grow up to be healthy, educated and independent adults.

THE NEED TODAY

GIRLS

In Orange County, there are 275,940 girls. Regardless of cultural, racial, and socio-economic backgrounds, they face universal barriers to equality and success in life:

1 in 4 do not finish high school
45% of girls say that they are told to downplay their strength
Only 60% of U.S. college women graduate

CALIFORNIA AND THE ORANGE COUNTY COMMUNITY

Community Cost
High school student drop out costs California an estimated $46 billion annually

Lack of Student Support
For every 1,401 students, there is 1 school counselor in Orange County Schools

Poor Workforce Development
Orange County faces a critical shortage of skilled workers for high-paying jobs in key STEM (Science, Technology, Engineering, and Mathematics), manufacturing, health care and informational technology.

Girls Inc. addresses these challenges that Orange County girls face by positively changing the lives of 4,000 girls, kindergarten to 18 years old, each year with year-round holistic, compensatory, and intentional programming focusing on STEM (Science, Technology, Engineering & Math), financial literacy, sound body image, healthy relationships, and college and career readiness.

JOIN US TODAY!

Volunteers play a key role at Girls Inc. of Orange County by making it possible to deliver our programs and resources to the girls we serve. With the support of people like you, we become that much closer to achieving our organization’s mission.

HISTORY OF COMMUNITY SUPPORT
We’ve all been touched by Hoag in one way or another. Some of us have been a concerned friend or family member, grateful that the one we care about is in the best place he or she can be. Some of us have been patients, experiencing first-hand the extraordinary level of care that Hoag provides. Many of us have had both experiences. All of us owe a debt of gratitude to the thousands of Hoag donors and volunteers who’ve come before us. With the community’s continued partnership, Hoag is committed to being the gold standard of care in Orange County and across the nation.
“I just want people to know there is hope.”

Leukemia & Lymphoma Society

FUNDRAISING EVENTS

The Man Women of the Year campaign is a high-level fundraising campaign among business and community leaders who compete for the honor of being the Man or Women of the Year. Candidates who raise the most funds over the 10-week campaign will be awarded the title of Man or Women of the Year.

Light The Night is Leukemia & Lymphoma Society’s annual fundraising experience, where we pay tribute and bring hope to those touched by blood cancer. Teams of co-workers, friends and families work together to raise funds for LLS and celebrate their success at the Light The Night.

Team in Training provides teams and individuals expert training to complete a marathon, half-marathon, century cycle ride, triathlon or hike in exchange to raise necessary funds for blood cancer research.

Student Series are service learning programs designed to teach students about philanthropy, teamwork and leadership. Students work together collecting spare change to fundraise in honor of local patients.

Simply connected to the Mission? The Annual Spring Appeal encourages donors to give to the mission by providing necessary funding to directly support the research and patient services program.

VOLUNTEER OPPORTUNITIES
Help us help people with blood cancer and their families. Our dedicated community volunteers are the heart and soul of the Leukemia & Lymphoma Society (LLS). There are many different ways you can participate and make a difference in the lives of those touched by blood cancer.

Find out how by calling us at 714.481.5600 or visit www.lls.org/ociie.

Blood cancers are the number three cancer killer

Leukemia is the number one cancer that takes the lives of children under 26 years old in the US today. We are working to change that.

More than 1,000 Stater Bros. employees attended the 2016 Orange County Light The Night Walk on Sept. 24. Their fundraising team raised $123,000+ for this event and all the Southern California Stater Bros. stores raised $234,447 in their 2016 retail campaign. In nine years with the Orange County Light The Night, Stater Bros associates and customers raised over $3,156,000!
BRING LIGHT TO THE DARKNESS OF CANCER

The mission of The Leukemia & Lymphoma Society (LLS) is: Cure leukemia, lymphoma, Hodgkin’s disease and myeloma, and improve the quality of life of patients and their families. LLS exists to find cures and ensure access to treatments for blood cancer patients. We are the voice and we work to ensure access to treatments for all blood cancer patients.

The Light The Night Walk is a fundraising campaign benefiting The Leukemia & Lymphoma Society (LLS) and their funding of research to find blood cancer cures.

Walkers raise funds to help support:
- Lifesaving cancer research
- Financial assistance to cover patient expenses for medication and testing
- Free educational materials and events.
- Programs such as the Patti Robinson, Kaufmann First Connection program and support group.
- Advocacy for better treatments and healthcare reform
- Comprehensive personalized assistance through our Information Resource Center

Accelerating Nonprofit Success
Orange County Community Foundation

MISSION STATEMENT

The mission of the Orange County Community Foundation is to encourage, support and facilitate philanthropy in Orange County.

SERVICE AREA

We work with generous individuals, families and collaborative partners throughout Orange County. Since 1989, we have awarded more than $425 million in grants and scholarships to address needs locally, across the nation and around the world. With nearly $300 million in assets, OCCF ranks in the top 10% in asset size and is the seventh most active grant-maker among more than 780 U.S. community foundations.

GIVING OPPORTUNITIES

▸ Our Friends of the Foundation fund supports OCCF’s leadership initiatives tackling the greatest challenges and opportunities facing our community. Our passion for growing the good in Orange County fuels our role as a leader and catalyst for change. Become a Friend of the Foundation at oc-cf.org/donate.

▸ ACT Anaheim is a collaborative response to the needs of youth facing poverty, academic challenges and limited opportunities in OC’s hidden urban core. We’ve convened a collective effort by community partners and local nonprofits to enhance the future for thousands of Anaheim youth. Visit oc-cf.org/actanaheim to learn more.

▸ In 2017, OCCF will again partner with the OC Real Estate Luncheon Initiative to raise funds in support of Orange County veterans. The second annual OC Real Estate Luncheon will be held Thursday, April 20, featuring Chad Hennings, honored Air Force Veteran and three-time Super Bowl champion. Purchase tickets at oc-cf.org/2017OCREL.

GOALS FOR 2017

▸ OCCF will award its fourth year of funding to leverage the successes and partnerships created through ACT Anaheim to sustain the nonprofit programs and services that enhanced opportunities for youth to become college and career ready, engage positively in the community, make healthy life choices, and build positive relationships with parents and other adults.

▸ Through its OC Veterans Initiative, OCCF will continue building the capacity of high-performing veteran service organizations to meet the needs of veterans and their families transitioning from the military in Orange County. Focused on increased veteran outreach and collaboration between service providers, OCCF looks to ensure that veterans and their families have a successful transition.

▸ OCCF will expand the OC Opportunity Initiative to focus on removing the greatest obstacles that immigrants face through outreach, education and legal services, while creating a welcoming, inclusive community for all residents that moves everyone closer to achieving the American Dream.

From the moment I learned Scarlett had been conceived, I knew she would need a family. She was able to develop a short 28 weeks before the emergency c-section that started the fight for her life. The doctors said “1 in 6. She is 1 of 6 babies, that might not make it through the night. You should begin funeral arrangements.” These words would begin her almost 8 months in the NICU. Her birth mother exposed to several different illicit drugs, alcohol, and tobacco, while in utero. Which made my daughter’s future completely uncertain.

Unlike any other issue that can be diagnosed with a simple blood test, Scarlett had to endure an array of tests and procedures during the most crucial stages in an infant’s life. She was officially diagnosed with 7 major medical conditions causing a global delay and a failure to thrive. It wasn’t until she was 14 months old that I was given foster guardianship over her and brought her home. Orange County social services allowed for us to be a candidate for adoption under the condition that we keep her medical team at Children’s Hospital of Orange County. Of course, we agreed.

She was given to me in such a fragile state, weighing only 13 pounds and not able to even hold up her little head. Her doctors warned me that even though she was going home with me, to not be surprised if she ended up back at the hospital again. Thankfully, we were given a safe and extremely comfortable place to stay. I could have a meal, rest and chat with wonderful and caring people at the Ronald McDonald House. I am so grateful to have the House every time we needed to make a trip to CHOC. It was truly our home away from home. Often times, my husband and sons had to stay behind and not once did I feel lonely or awkward. I was welcomed by everyone. They made sure to keep me comfortable and to invite me to events. They were our extended family. They were up to date on Scarlett’s health, and cheered us on as the adoption was finalized.

I’ve since relocated to Orange County for Scarlett’s care, but I always think of the Ronald McDonald House and how we were able to benefit from such an amazing organization that was there for us when we needed them the most, and that will forever be in our hearts. Knowing that there are people in the world with love, kindness, and the spirit of giving makes the hard days more bearable.

Brenda, Scarlett’s mom

Thank you for keeping families close

Plasticos Foundation...reshaping lives, one at a time.

As poverty continues to grow, both in and outside of the U.S., so grows the problem of health care accessibility. Whether due to geographic, financial or organizational factors, there are many barriers that an individual might face that make it difficult or even impossible to access quality health care. This is not just dangerous for the patient—it’s harmful for those communities and humanity as a whole.

Founded in 1999 by Dr. Larry Nichter, with a goal to provide reconstructive surgery to those in need, Plasticos Foundation sends volunteer teams to poverty stricken regions across the globe to perform surgery free of charge for those suffering from traumatic injuries and correctable deformities. Additionally, multiplying impact through training of host-country doctors, ensuring self-sufficiency.

In 2016, volunteer medical teams transformed lives in Cuba, Guatemala, Mexico and Vietnam. In 2017, in addition to trips abroad, local patients will have access to care through the Reshaping Lives California program. In partnership with Pacific Center for Plastic Surgery, Fountain Valley Surgery Center and local agencies, Plasticos Foundation will perform reconstructive surgery on select local patients, free of charge.

There is a common misconception that in the United States, surgery is accessible to everyone. However, each year in Orange County alone, thousands of men, women and children are unable to receive life-changing surgical care, for many reasons including unstable housing, no health insurance and ineligibility for any publicly sponsored programs, thus the launch of this community-based humanitarian program.

The best examples of good health care happen when medical professionals and communities come together, working concurrently to empower community members in establishing positive relationships with their own health. Through volunteer efforts abroad and at home, Plasticos Foundation is bringing us one step closer to achieving good health care, one patient at a time.

It’s hard to follow your dreams on an empty stomach.

Today, one in five children won’t be able to concentrate in school because they’re hungry. With your help, this year we reached nearly half of them. Now we have a bold goal: close the meal gap by 2025. We’ll need more trucks to deliver that food, refrigerators to keep it, more after-school programs, and convenient school pantries so families can choose what they need most. We’ll need more volunteers with a variety of skills. Plus more donations of food and resources, so that we can keep delivering three meals for every dollar donated. And, as always, more than 90 cents of every dollar we spend goes directly to feeding the hungry. Including all the boys and girls who need a good breakfast every morning so they can reach their own big dreams and bold goals. To donate, contact us at 949-208-3187 or visit FeedOC.org.

The Next Act
CAPITAL CAMPAIGN

New School of Dance and Music for Children with Disabilities

“I loved the way [the class] was set up. The kids are not just expected to follow a routine, they have...time to share their thoughts and explore movements they can create using their [bodies]. Also, I heard music being explained to them in terms they can understand...having a musician and not recorded music was...the most awesome thing to add to the class!”

- Gladys H., parent

This school and many more new programs are being made possible by the Center’s Next Act Capital Campaign, which will expand these types of programs through the Center for Dance and Innovation, the Center Without Boundaries programs, as well as adding free and low-cost programming on the soon-to-be-renovated Julianne and George Argyros Plaza.

We invite you to play a role in the Center’s Next Act. Your support will make this bold vision a reality.

ADPTION ROCKS!

Just ask Josie, age 12, who finally got her forever family after years of struggling in the foster care system. If you ask her she'll tell you that 'ADPTION ROCKS' - BECAUSE I FINALLY HAVE PARENTS THAT WILL NEVER LEAVE ME!

PARENTS: ERIN & TONY OF ORANGE COUNTY

Every child deserves to grow up in a safe and loving home. But 50,000 children in California and more than 2,500 children here in Orange County are still waiting for their forever family while living in foster care. Seneca helps build and support permanent families for children who have experienced trauma and/or neglect, giving them the love and care they need to thrive.

Incorporating the programs of Kinship Center and Canyon Acres

The commitment to unconditional care means that whatever it takes to help children and families even faced with tremendous challenges, will be done.

SHARE OUR SELVES FUND
The Share Our Selves fund at SOS represents unrestricted donations that are used to support all of the SOS Social Services that are offered to the low-income, homeless and marginalized people in the Orange County community that we serve.

BACK TO SCHOOL PROGRAM
For over 20 years, SOS has provided age-appropriate backpacks filled with school supplies to children grades K-12 in the Orange County community.

HOMELESS LIFE SUPPORT SERVICES
SOS provides support and assistance to over 1,100 homeless individuals and families including transportation, survival kits, warm clothing and more.

EMERGENCY FINANCIAL AID
Our emergency financial response program for low-income families and individuals provides assistance for the following: utility bills, transportation, prescription needs, essential household items, children’s needs and motel vouchers.

HIGH SCHOOL GRADUATION PROGRAM
Every spring, SOS provides assistance to college-bound students from low-income families who are graduating from high school. Each student receives such items as graduation clothes, funds to cover cap and gown expenses, a family celebration dinner and college preparation essentials.

RENTAL ASSISTANCE
In special situations, we provide rental assistance for families that are at risk of losing their homes due to emergency health problems, catastrophic events and job loss.

CAMP EXPERIENCE
Each year, we send young people from families that are struggling with extremely difficult situations to Camp Stevens in San Diego. SOS not only pays the cost of this one-week camp experience, we also provide transportation, clothing and all of the equipment required to attend.

FOOD PANTRY
We provide over 235 bags of groceries each day to low-income, elderly and homeless families and individuals in the Orange County community.

COLLEGE SCHOLARSHIP PROGRAM
The recipients of the scholarship funds are typically students who are the first of their family to attend college. The funds we offer are used to pay for additional costs and fees not covered by an academic scholarship.

IN MY LIFETIME FUND
The In My Lifetime fund is designed to provide financial assistance and support to families that are in crisis situations and facing extremely difficult challenges.

Pacific Premier Bank President and CEO Steven Gardner (middle) presents a check to Lisa Wolter, Executive Director of Susan G. Komen Orange County (left) and Komen Orange County Board President, Gretchen Valentine (right). The funds will be used for Komen Orange County’s Latina Initiative to bring breast cancer education, programs and mammography to uninsured and underinsured Orange County Latinas.
In Orange County, every day 5 women are diagnosed with breast cancer. Each day 1 woman will die from the disease. That’s not acceptable.

Susan G. Komen® Orange County believes that no woman, or man, under any circumstance, should ever be denied access to quality breast health care. We stand by our mission to save lives by meeting the most critical needs in our communities and investing in groundbreaking research to prevent and cure breast cancer.

The Wooden Floor is one of the foremost creative youth development nonprofit organizations in the country. We transform the lives of young people in low-income communities through the power of dance and access to higher education. In Orange County and through national licensed partners, we use a long-term approach grounded in exploratory dance education to foster the confidence and gifts within each child to innovate, communicate, and collaborate – skills necessary for success in school and in life. 100% of students who graduate from The Wooden Floor immediately enroll in higher education.

The Wooden Floor was recently featured on NBC’s Give, a national program about nonprofits and charitable giving. Celebrity ambassador, music artist, actress, and philanthropist Kat Graham visited The Wooden Floor’s campus and then surprised the organization with a $25,000 gift from the PMICO Foundation.
Dance moves youth. Forward.

“The lessons that I learned here at The Wooden Floor extend beyond the dance studio and can be applied to life. They helped me do well in high school and I know that they will help me through college and beyond. I am attending UCLA and pursuing a degree in nursing. I am one of 13 siblings. One of my sisters has cerebral palsy. She is the inspiration behind my decision to pursue a career in nursing, so that I may serve and help children with disabilities. This is something that I am passionate about and with hard work and dedication, I am confident I will achieve.”

-Cristina, Class of 2016

Cristina was named valedictorian of her high school class, and is a freshman at the University of California, Los Angeles.

In Orange County and through national licensed partners, The Wooden Floor transforms the lives of young people in low-income communities through the power of dance and access to higher education.

100 percent of students who graduate from The Wooden Floor immediately enroll in higher education—more than double the rate of their peers nationwide.

Our students become change agents and beacons of hope within their own families, their neighborhoods, our community, and our world.

THINK Together

20th Anniversary Celebration
Thursday, April 27, 2017 – Pacific Ballroom at University of California, Irvine
Proceeds benefit programs that change the odds for children and youth living in poverty. The evening will highlight the community partnerships that have made THINK Together’s work possible over the past 20 years.

VOLUNTEER OPPORTUNITIES

Help One Child Beat the Odds – Only one-third of students in California report receiving the support they need to do well in school. We invite you to tutor or mentor a student and help him or her beat the odds!

Corporate Volunteer Day – Visit a THINK Together program and a student will take you and your team on a tour demonstrating the impact of our academic support model. Volunteer opportunities are varied and include reading to students, leading an arts or enrichment activity, or assisting with a science experiment.

Book Doctor – Last year, we collected and distributed 122,000 children’s books to families and schools. Help us clean, repair and sort book donations – this is a great activity for seniors, families and teenagers.

GIVING OPPORTUNITIES

- Sponsor our 20th anniversary celebration with an individual or corporate gift. More information at thinktwenty.com.
- Become a monthly sustainer with an automated gift that provides year-round academic support after school. More information at thinktogether.org/monthly.
- Help high schools students successfully transition to college by donating SAT prep classes, application fees and scholarships for college expenses.

Western Youth Services

According to the Center for Disease Control (CDC), one in five children have a diagnosable mental health condition. Children who have multiple Adverse Childhood Experiences (ACEs), such as neglect and abuse, are more likely to display early signs of emotional problems. Prevention and early intervention strategies that include collaboration among providers has a greater positive impact on both health and mental health outcomes. WYS has established a collaborative culture that, when adopted, reduces the negative impact of ACEs and results in community and healthcare savings. WYS illuminates the public health crisis related to ACEs, and provides solutions to reduce the negative impact of ACEs and to move the needle from one in five to one in ten.

Fundraising proceeds go toward prevention, identification and early intervention resources, tools and activities designed for schools and youth serving individuals and organizations to reduce the negative impact of ACEs.

Volunteers assist the Outreach & Engagement teams by providing support to participants, their families and our communities. Volunteers disseminate program information through a variety of platforms including, but not limited to, community events, workshops and presentations.

Volunteers assist staff with tasks such as faxing, processing mail, filing, simple date entry/word processing, photocopying, reception backup, lobby assistance, setting appointments, making reminder calls, answering phones and pulling charts.

Volunteers assist the agency by providing interpretation and translation (written and oral) for clients, families, clinicians, psychiatrists and the administrative staff.

VOLUNTEER OPPORTUNITIES

“I’ve chosen to volunteer for two reasons; first there is no better way to give back as you set an example for your own kids to follow; second, to provide help where help is needed.”
– Eledvan Munoz, Santa Ana Family YMCA Volunteer

“Volunteering at my Y is a labor of love. I find it personally rewarding to be of service to others when the people I am helping care so deeply, work so hard, and at times, unselfishly, suffer personal sacrifices to make our Y so wonderful. This is my way of giving back and saying thank you.”
– Gary Hessenauer, Laguna Niguel Family YMCA Volunteer

Volunteering has always been at the heart of the YMCA. Volunteers play an integral role to the success of Y programs and fundraising. Contact the YMCA at 714.508.7615 for more information on volunteering at the YMCA.
