Dear Readers,

It’s amazing how time flies. 11 years ago, the Giving Guide was born and now we are celebrating our 11th anniversary by featuring over 75 nonprofits in our community.

My goal is to continue growing underwriting support each year and with your help we can do that. If you are a board member of a nonprofit organization that is NOT included in this year’s guide, please contact us to get them involved in the 2021 edition.

Thank you to our publication sponsors- Association of Fundraising Professionals (AFP), City National Bank, Irvine Company Resort Properties and SingerLewak as well as all of the underwriters of individual nonprofits featured in the Giving Guide. Thank you to our amazing team: Jamy Derby for editing the content and Rich Loyd, Martin Nilchian, Brette Miller and Kristen Porter for graphic design.

I’m proud to be part of such a giving community. I welcome the opportunity to talk further with any of you on ways to support our nonprofit friends so that they can continue to serve those in need in orange county and beyond.

With great appreciation,

Amy Streddo

Teaching Teen Parents to Thrive

“Seven years ago, I thought my life was over. At one point, I had no hope whatever and contemplated suicide as an option. Through Fristers, I found purpose, motivation and inspiration. I’ve learned to love myself, embrace my shortcomings, and I realized I am enough.” - Jessica

Discouraged, ashamed, overwhelmed, terrified, aimless. These are just a few of the many emotions teenage parents experience. Oftentimes, teens aren’t given the support and resources they need to thrive as individuals and young parents. Fristers’ goal is to give them hope. We provide a community of support to help teens grow while building healthy, stable lives and families. For more than 10 years, through educational classes, workshops, mentoring and case management, Fristers has positively impacted more than 2,000 Orange County teen parents and children.

Fristers helps teen parents, like Jessica, graduate high school, enroll in college and vocational training, secure employment, build healthy relationships and learn how to be a responsible and caring parent. In addition, their children receive early intervention services that improve their developmental, social and educational gains. Fristers’ programs and services for teen moms, dads, couples and children are available through multiple chapters in Orange County. To learn more, please visit www.fristers.org.
The Double Bottom Line
by Shelley Hoss, President & CEO, Orange County Community Foundation

Author and scholar Peter F. Drucker wrote in Managing the Nonprofit Organization: Principles and Practices that the “nonprofit” institution neither supplies goods or services...its ‘product’ is neither a pair of shoes nor an effective regulation. Its product is a changed human being.

Delivering on the promise of a changed life is the ever-present challenge of running a nonprofit organization. And while the sector is often encouraged to operate more like the for-profit world, the truth is that a nonprofit’s success is measured by a much higher bar of challenge and deeper level of accountability.

Success in the nonprofit world depends on managing not just a single bottom line, but twice that—operating the actual business of the organization, while delivering the changed lives of individuals and families, and perhaps entire communities.

Nonprofit executives run two businesses at once. They manage capital, balance budgets, and hire and retain professional talent while also delivering on their transformational missions. A challenge decidedly not for the faint of heart.

And as they navigate this double bottom line, nonprofits must satisfy two distinct audiences in the process. They must appeal to donors who supply the revenue that sustains their programs while being experts at serving the needs of their chosen population or issue. For businesses, success in the eyes of investors is tied directly to their product or service. For nonprofits, return on investment comes in the form of the positive feeling of making a difference not just once, but sustainably over time.

Given the challenge and rigor of this constant balancing act, it’s no surprise that Orange County’s nonprofits are expert practitioners of entrepreneurial thinking, ingenuity, and flexibility. Consider two of OCCF’s most innovative projects: The Village at 17th in Santa Ana, a shared space where nonprofit tenants share amenities and facilities – driving cost savings and deepening their operations through close collaboration, and our new Social Innovation Fund, which we developed in partnership with local philanthropists to support nonprofit innovation and collaboration, and our new Social Innovation Fund.

OCCF is proud to support the work of local nonprofits rising to the daily challenge of the double bottom line. We all reap the rewards of their fearless pursuit of a stronger, healthier, more vibrant Orange County for all.

Core Strategies to Increase Community Engagement

Community engagement in nonprofit organizations is more important than ever. It can be the key to sustainability, or the downfall of an organization’s existence.

Digital Age

There is no doubt that we obtain, process and act upon information much differently than we did just a short decade ago. Physical mailings such as newsletters, contribution campaigns and membership sign ups, have given way to emailed versions and social media platform postings. Here are four simple steps nonprofit organizations can take, to secure or increase community engagement.

Create a Platform

Nonprofits that don’t already have a community engagement strategy and / or platform, need to start here. A clear and concise strategy should cover both social and financial concerns in the near term and mid term. The platform chosen should be the one best suited to address the organization’s cause and needs. This is where the homework assignment comes in – engage the Development Team / Director to home in on the concepts that resonate with constituents. Then fold those same concepts into the platform under development.

Build the Base

We hear this term a lot during election season, and it applies to community engagement in the nonprofit sector as well. Building donor loyalty goes hand in hand with a successful community engagement strategy. Donor loyalty increases as community engagement becomes more personal and less transactional. Consider initiating a membership program with tangible benefits, for example.

Corporate vs. Individual Donors

Whenever discussing community engagement with nonprofits, the first question I ask is “are you better served to be more corporate focused or individual focused?” Each has its distinct advantages and disadvantages, so spending time working through this fundamental question before settling on a course of action, is important. Surveying a representative sample of prospective or existing corporate and individual donors, is usually very effective. No reason to guess [wrong]. People like to be heard so this is a great way to get some great feedback as you build your strategy.

Be Consistent and Stay the Course

Consistency in the marketplace is a key driver of successful nonprofits. Once a strategy and platform have been built based on your own research as well as input from donors, it’s time to execute. The roll out may be received with open arms right away or may even fall flat on its face. Either way, it is important to stay active in the marketplace and focus effort on execution of the strategy. Don’t declare victory prematurely or give up too soon. All strategies include course corrections so don’t be afraid to adjust according to feedback you receive.

Corporate Volunteering: Good for the Employee. Good for the Company. Good for the Community

Volunteerism has been an important part of this country’s history since the early days.

I’m thinking of: Ben Franklin’s first formally organized all-volunteer fire company; Civil War volunteers who spent days and days and days making bandages, towels, uniforms and tents; and the volunteers who were crucial to many Americans’ survival while the Great Depression and World War II raged.

I absolutely love that we are a nation that embraces and encourages volunteerism. Volunteerism is powerful and transformative. Volunteerism can offer us a different perspective; it can build empathy and compassion and skills. Volunteerism can change the course of one’s career…or life.

I have a particular affinity for corporate volunteerism, which has been alive and well in the United States for more than 100 years, but started to gain notice in the 1970s. At the time, a nonprofit called The National Center for Voluntary Action (NCVA) commissioned a research project about the practice of corporate volunteering. Based on the research collected, NCVA’s Executive Director, Kenn Allen, ended up writing a book called “Volunteers From the Workplace” (now out of print) with co-authors Shirley Keller and Cynthia Vizza. This book highlighted the practice of employee volunteering and provided templates for companies interested in pursuing their own practice.

Fifty years ago, when asked why they support corporate volunteerism, companies responded easily: “it’s good for our employees, our company, and our community.”

These days, absolutely – corporate volunteering is great for the employee and wonderful for the company. I remain a firm believer in the good that companies can provide via their own talent. But in a world filled with nonstop social media feeds and robust PR machines, are we sure that corporate volunteering is still good for the community? How are we ensuring and measuring impact? Is the desire to volunteer pure?

For those of us on the corporate side, we need to be having these conversations with our nonprofit partners. It’s no time for filters; it’s time to get real.

When we request placement for our corporate volunteers, we also need to ask the following questions:

1). Hey, nonprofit partner – are we lightening your staff workload?
2). Are we helping you function more effectively?
3). Are we saving you money?
4). Are we bringing you new skills and expertise?
5). Are we building your capacity for the future?

If the nonprofit partner answers ‘yes’ to at least two of the above questions, then go ahead and book that volunteer activity. And if you’re not getting two yesses, hit pause and go back to the drawing board; figure out an activity that really, truly, beautifully benefits the nonprofit. We don’t have time or effort to waste on mediocre volunteering – there are big problems to solve.

I’m all for a dynamic and compelling corporate volunteer photo post-event. I just want to make sure there’s impact behind it. After all, we have a national legacy to uphold.

What inspires you to give?

Judi and I have always made it a priority to give back to our community. Being able to improve the lives of our friends and neighbors is a very meaningful source of joy for both us. Our longstanding relationship with Mission Hospital has given us the opportunity to experience that joy more than we ever thought possible. When we support Mission Hospital, we are privileged to witness the innumerable ways that the hospital’s talented caregivers and amazing technologies help some of our most vulnerable community members recover, heal and thrive.

Summarize a personal experience you’ve had working with a nonprofit organization that has had the greatest impact on you.

Mission Hospital has always been our family’s hospital – we have supported Mission and relied on its exceptional health care for decades. When the hospital’s leadership approached us about helping to create a brand-new cancer institute, we knew immediately that it was a project worthy of our investment. This institute represents an immense opportunity for our community, to bring world-class cancer care to all the citizens of South Orange County.

Through our involvement in this ambitious project, we have had the distinct pleasure and honor of connecting with the real heroes in 21st century cancer care – the doctors, nurses and caregivers at Mission Hospital’s Leonard Cancer Institute. We have heard deeply moving stories from patients who routinely travel 2-3 hours for treatment while battling this horrible disease, and we are proud to be part of Mission Hospital’s efforts to eliminate that burden for cancer patients in our community.

Seeing the impact that our cancer institute can have on the lives of patients like these and their families has been a profound experience for Judi and I. We could not be more thrilled with the scope and vision of the Leonard Cancer Institute at Mission Hospital, and we look forward to seeing its life-saving care benefit our friends and neighbors for many years to come.

What inspires you to give?

We began our philanthropic efforts over twenty years ago by donating to different causes and organizations to make a difference and to advance those causes. We began with smaller amounts that have graduated to more substantial gifts. Over the years, we developed a passion for one of the areas to which we had donated - the preservation of open space land, including those that provided public access and use. Our goal to preserve open space has now become all-encompassing because those efforts receive so little of the funds in the giving sphere. We began to concentrate our giving to those organizations that had successful records and were involved in worthy efforts to preserve critical areas of open space.

Summarize a personal experience you’ve had working with a nonprofit org that has had the greatest impact on you.

We became a donor in the efforts to preserve Banning Ranch because it’s local, located here in Newport Beach. And it’s unique that such a large undeveloped property of over 400 acres is situated in the heart of a highly populated area. We pledged our first donation to the Banning Ranch Conservancy, the non-profit group formed to preserve, acquire, conserve and manage the property as permanent public open space, in 2012. The Conservancy has had great success in their efforts over the years. As the saying goes, “the proof is in the pudding”. So, this past November, we donated $50 million to the Banning Ranch Conservancy to help them acquire Banning Ranch and to achieve their vision for the future of the property. We are very impressed with their leaders and the fact that they have achieved so much with an all-volunteer team. We are involved and will stay involved to ensure that Banning Ranch is permanently saved. It is a property worthy of preservation and a group worthy of our support.
Faces of Philanthropy

What inspires you to give?

The genesis of our community giving can really be traced back to the sudden death of my late brother Dan who was the co-founder and chairman of Donahue Schriber. It happened so suddenly and we had so many business and family issues to deal with we never had a real chance to grieve. Getting involved with KidWorks and the creation of its Dan Donahue center was very cathartic for the company. Tom Schriber, my brother Terry and Dan’s closest friends did an amazing job of taking an after school tutoring program in a tiny apartment in Santa Ana to a 20k SF community center serving over 400 families in that neighborhood. As a company we could not be more proud of the work being done there and are grateful to have been a part of their amazing success in the community.

The other thing that inspired us to continue our efforts was something I heard in an interview with Jack Welch, the former CEO of General Electric. He said in that crusty Boston accent ‘that only successful companies can give back to their communities.’ I very much wanted to run a successful company and those words became sort of a measuring stick of how we were doing. I interpreted his comments to mean that if you are a successful company, you have the responsibility to give back to the community. It is the guiding principle of all of our community outreach efforts.

Summarize a personal experience you’ve had working with a nonprofit organization that has had the greatest impact on you.

There are great experiences in all the nonprofits we are involved with. The students in the guardian scholar program for foster youth at Cal State Fullerton certainly comes to mind but so do the veterans initiatives, KidWorks as I mentioned before and our California showcase which by August of this year will have sourced scholarships for over 1000 kids to play college football and earn a college degree. There is nothing more fun than getting all the good folks at Donahue Schriber involved in our community service. We are extremely proud of their efforts.

What inspires you to give?

Observing other immediate family members concern for others less fortunate, including my older sister, my mother and my Grandmother, was an inspiration to me. We’ve all seen homeless people sitting on public sidewalks, whether selling something or simply asking for money. I was able to watch my Grandmother buy a pencil from a homeless man, then go into the nearest department store and buy him a cushion to sit on. I didn’t realize it at the time but later understood that she was teaching me how to be of service to others as well as to understand how fortunate I was. You see, when I witnessed this in 1970, my Grandmother was working for less than the minimum wage! While she did not have a lot to give, she knew she could demonstrate care and empathy to someone less fortunate. The examples I saw, first hand, while growing up inspired me to do great things with the extra resources that I have to offer.

Summarize a personal experience you’ve had working with a nonprofit organization that has had the greatest impact on you.

Rather than trying to give small amounts of money to a large variety of charities, I’ve elected to focus my resources to a select group of non-profit organizations. My goal has been to ‘really move the needle’ with this group of non-profits I’m involved with. I’ve also tried to help these same organizations to develop a more effective investment strategy and to not think solely of stocks and bonds.

Locally, I’ve given a lot of time and money to two organizations that are truly transforming lives and working to make our community stronger. KidWorks has done an amazing job improving lives and creating a better future for central Santa Ana students. Kids that in the past had a greater chance of being a high school dropout, are now graduating high school and in many cases are going on to college. In fact, all of the high school graduates in 2019 went on to participate in college. The city of Santa Ana, as well as greater Orange County will reap huge dividends as these better educated young adults transition back into our community.

I have also been extremely grateful to work with Santa Ana College, my community college alma mater. I’ve had the opportunity to help them grow the Santa Ana College Foundation, which in turns helps deserving students. They are doing great things to help students achieve their dreams of getting an education.

Pursue Greatness.

It’s our one core value. It is the foundation for everything we do at Boys & Girls Clubs of Central Orange Coast. It fuels our innovation and expansion on behalf of those we serve. It’s how we inspire curiosity, encourage discovery, and prepare kids for the 21st century, the global economy, and the future that awaits them.

We believe in the amazing potential that exists in every child, regardless of his or her zip code or background. And our purpose is to help them pursue greatness.

We invite you to be a part of this purpose. Your support provides programs that equip children throughout central Orange County with the skills and mentorship they need to be successful both in school and in life.

CRF’s mission is to support bench, clinical and translational cystinosis research to find better treatments and a cure for cystinosis. CRF is the largest private fund provider of cystinosis research grants in the world.

FAST FACTS

What is your Charity Navigator Rating (1 star – 4 stars) OR What is your Guidestar Rating?

Charity Navigator Rating - 4 Stars / Guidestar Rating - Platinum

What percentage of total revenue goes to cause (after operation expenses)? 100%

One hundred percent of donor’s contributions go directly to cystinosis research. All operational expenses are underwritten by a private donor.

What was your greatest community impact in 2019?

The CRF community was positively impacted by the start of the first FDA approved human clinical trial to test a gene-corrected autologous stem cell transplant treatment developed by CRF funded researcher, Stéphanie Cherqui, PhD at UC San Diego. CRF has funded Dr. Cherqui since 2007. The first adult patient was transplanted on October 7, 2019. The patient is doing well with all indications pointing to a good level of corrected cells and lower cystine measurement. We hope that this treatment will prove to be a cure at a minimum, stop the progression of cystinosis.

FUNDRAISING EVENTS

Saturday, Natalie’s Wish Celebration has been canceled for 2020 due to the Coronavirus outbreak. We hope to see you next year on Saturday, April 17, 2021 at the Fashion Island Hotel Newport Beach.

In 2003, Natalie Stack made a wish on the eve of her 12th birthday – to have my disease go away forever. That same year the Cystinosis Research Foundation was established with the sole purpose of finding better treatments and a cure for cystinosis. In 2019, the first cystinosis patient received an autologous stem cell and gene therapy treatment as part of a recently approved FDA clinical trial. We are hopeful that this treatment will stop the progression of cystinosis or be the cure for cystinosis. We will continue to celebrate the clinical trials underway and the research progress CRF has made because of your generosity and support. Together we will make Natalie’s wish a reality. To make a donation this year visit: www.cystinosisresearch.org or call 949-223-7610.

GIVING OPPORTUNITIES

How To Help

Thanks to the generous support of our friends and the entire community, CRF is the largest private fund provider of cystinosis research in the world. Since 2003, we have funded 190 cystinosis research studies in 12 countries around the globe. We are on the path to the cure, but there is still more work to be done, and we need your help. Giving opportunities include:

- Attend or sponsor the Natalie’s Wish Fundraising Event
- Donate via our website www.cystinosisresearch.org
- Utilize your company matching gift programs.
- Host a third-party fundraiser.

GOALS FOR 2020

- Continue support for the stem cell and gene therapy trial for cystinosis through phases 1 and 2.
- CRF will continue to fund millions in new grants for cystinosis research projects. The grants will focus on all areas of research including muscle wasting, stem cell research and kidney disease.

FAST FACTS

What is your Charity Navigator Rating (1 star – 4 stars) OR What is your Guidestar Rating?

Charity Navigator Rating - 4 Stars / Guidestar Rating - Platinum

What percentage of total revenue goes to cause (after operation expenses)? 100%

What was your greatest community impact in 2019?

The CRF community was positively impacted by the start of the first FDA approved human clinical trial to test a gene-corrected autologous stem cell transplant treatment developed by CRF funded researcher, Stéphanie Cherqui, PhD at UC San Diego. CRF has funded Dr. Cherqui since 2007. The first adult patient was transplanted on October 7, 2019. The patient is doing well with all indications pointing to a good level of corrected cells and lower cystine measurement. We hope that this treatment will prove to be a cure at a minimum, stop the progression of cystinosis.

FUNDRAISING EVENTS

Saturday, Natalie’s Wish Celebration has been canceled for 2020 due to the Coronavirus outbreak. We hope to see you next year on Saturday, April 17, 2021 at the Fashion Island Hotel Newport Beach.

In 2003, Natalie Stack made a wish on the eve of her 12th birthday – to have my disease go away forever. That same year the Cystinosis Research Foundation was established with the sole purpose of finding better treatments and a cure for cystinosis. In 2019, the first cystinosis patient received an autologous stem cell and gene therapy treatment as part of a recently approved FDA clinical trial. We are hopeful that this treatment will stop the progression of cystinosis or be the cure for cystinosis. We will continue to celebrate the clinical trials underway and the research progress CRF has made because of your generosity and support. Together we will make Natalie’s wish a reality. To make a donation this year visit: www.cystinosisresearch.org or call 949-223-7610.

GIVING OPPORTUNITIES

“Girl Scouts has shown me how to look at my community, identify a need, and think outside the box to solve the problem.”

Gold Award Girl Scout Isabella is giving a voice to the voiceless. A former Girl Scout Brownie, Isabella rejoined Girl Scouts in high school when she learned of opportunities to change the world through the Girl Scout Gold Award. The Girl Scout Gold Award is the mark of the truly remarkable — proof that not only can she make a difference, she already has. A member of the Cahuilla tribe, actress and storyteller Isabella struggled to find roles on the stage that fit her experiences. To address the lack of indigenous peoples’ representation in the U.S. media and cultural narrative, Isabella wrote, directed, and performed in the play Menil and Her Heart about missing and murdered indigenous women. Her play has been performed on stages across the country.

We know that girls have the power to change the world. When you support Girl Scouts as a volunteer or donor, you help nearly 20,000 Orange County girls gain the skills and confidence to live their best lives and make our world a better place.

INSPIRING ALL GIRLS TO BE STRONG, SMART, AND BOLD.

Girls Inc. of Orange County has been a respected member of the non-profit community for 66 years. The mission of Girls Inc. is to inspire all girls to be strong, smart, and bold. We put our mission into practice through the Girls Inc. experience that equips girls to navigate gender, economic, and social barriers and grow up to be healthy, educated and independent adults.

THE NEED TODAY

GIRLS

In Orange County, there are 350,456 girls. Regardless of cultural, racial, and socio-economic backgrounds, they face universal barriers to equality and success in life:

- 1 in 4 do not finish high school
- 45% of girls say that they are told to downplay their strength
- Only 60% of U.S. college women graduate

CALIFORNIA AND THE ORANGE COUNTY COMMUNITY

Community Cost
High school student drop out costs California an estimated $46 billion annually

Lack of Student Support
For every 1,401 students, there is 1 school counselor in Orange County Schools

Poor Workforce Development
Orange County faces a critical shortage of skilled workers for high-paying jobs in key STEM (Science, Technology, Engineering, and Mathematics), manufacturing, health care and informational technology

Girls Inc. addresses these challenges that Orange County girls face by positively changing the lives of 4,300 girls, kindergarten to 18 years old, each year with year-round holistic, compensatory, and intentional programming focusing on STEM (Science, Technology, Engineering & Math), financial literacy, sound body image, healthy relationships, and college and career readiness.

JOIN US TODAY!

Volunteers play a key role at Girls Inc. of Orange County by making it possible to deliver our programs and resources to the girls we serve. With the support of people like you, we become that much closer to achieving our organization’s mission.

PURPOSE, PRIDE AND DIGNITY.

These three words exemplify what we as an organization are all about. They are the foundation our mission was built on more than 95 years ago—helping people who are facing barriers find and keep jobs, which provides purpose, pride and dignity.

When an individual with a physical disability is given his or her first chance to thrive in the workplace. When a mother earns a paycheck to provide for her family. When a veteran seamlessly transitions from the military into meaningful employment. That’s purpose, pride and dignity in action.

We are fortunate to play a role in so many stories like this each and every day—and you can too. By making a financial investment in Goodwill’s mission, you can change lives and create a better Orange County.

COMMITTEE SUPPORT

We’ve all been touched by Hoag in one way or another. Some of us have been a concerned friend or family member, grateful that the one we care about is in the best place he or she can be. All of us owe a debt of gratitude to the thousands of Hoag donors and volunteers who’ve come before us. With the community’s continued partnership, Hoag is committed to being the gold standard of care in Orange County and across the nation.

Children should not have to deal with cancer.

They should not have to miss school, sports or their friends. But too many do. That is why The Leukemia & Lymphoma Society (LLS) has launched the LLS Children’s Initiative – to provide children with cancer safer, more effective treatments. The LLS Children’s Initiative brings a wide array of free education and support services to children with cancer, their parents and caregivers. This $100 million multi year endeavor will take on children’s cancer through every facet of our mission.

Volunteer Opportunities

There are many volunteer opportunities that are vitally important to Meals on Wheels OC’s mission. They range from serving as a board or committee member to hands-on work with older adults through our various programs. The hands-on opportunities include:

- Delivering Meals on Wheels to homebound older adults,
- Serving meals at our Lunch Cafés, and
- Assisting with activities at our Adult Day Health Care Centers in Anaheim and Santa Ana.

One of our most critical needs is for Friendly Visitors, which is a way to help combat loneliness and isolation by bringing warmth, friendship, and socialization to older adults who are otherwise alone. This is in the client’s home, and volunteers can visit one hour a week in the evenings and weekends.

The Ocean Institute does not simply change a day in a child’s life, we change the perception of what life has to offer. Our mission for forty-three years has been: Using the ocean as our classroom, we inspire children to learn.

To that end, we provide deep dive, hands-on learning experiences that leave an impression on children across decades and generations. From touching sea stars to observing majestic marine mammals for the first time; spending the night on the Pilgrim or awakening curiosity aboard the Spirit of Dana Point, our work changes the way children see themselves and their world.

It is with great excitement that we are hosting our second annual Wine Women & Shoes Orange County! This Spring Sunday Brunch event will include wine tasting, shopping, gourmet bites, and incredible auctions! The evening is topped off with a high energy fashion show. As one of our biggest fundraisers of the year, we plan to break last year’s record numbers and raise enough to ensure up to 400 additional kids can break the cycle of abuse and neglect with loving homes and strong families.

Tommy Bahama Golf Tournament- July 13-14, 2020

FUNDRAISING EVENTS

The fifth annual OC Real Estate luncheon will be held on Thursday, April 23, 2020, to benefit the health, education, and employment of OC veterans. Event proceeds will provide support for local nonprofits serving veterans and their families through OCCF’s OC Veterans Initiative. Purchase tickets at oc-cf.org/ocrel.

OCCF will gather 700 passionate donors, nonprofit partners and community leaders to celebrate the power and potential of philanthropy at our Annual Meeting on Wednesday, November 18, 2020.

GIVING OPPORTUNITIES

▶ OCCF’s Powering Good Fund supports solutions to our community’s most critical needs. With your help, we can create sustainable impact for our community – measurable now and for generations to come. Find out more at oc-cf.org/powergood.

▶ The Orange County Veterans Initiative (OCVI) is a collaborative effort to help Orange County veterans successfully transition to civilian life. To date, OCVI has helped more than 17,000 local veterans and their families receive the welcome home they deserve through education, employment, and essential health services. To learn more, visit oc-cf.org/veterans.

▶ IOC Collaborative Giving Days continue to expand in 2020 to empower local nonprofits throughout the year – and across the county – to widen the circle of engagement, visibility and support. Since OCCF’s initial IOC Giving Day in 2015, more than $8 million has been raised to benefit local nonprofits. To learn more about this year’s Giving Days, which are being announced throughout the year, visit oc-cf.org/iheartoc.

GOALS FOR 2020

▶ OCCF’s Workforce Development Initiative is an innovative approach launched in 2019 to create opportunities for young adults disconnected from school or work to receive the education and training needed to fill in-demand middle-skills jobs for Orange County employers, fueling economic growth and successful outcomes for future generations.

▶ In 2019, OCCF launched a new Social Innovation Fund to support nonprofit innovators and cutting-edge programs that advance social and economic well-being in Orange County. The beta round of funding was awarded last fall, and four projects received grants to test out new approaches and solutions to some of our community’s greatest challenges. Projects for year two funding are now being considered, with learnings from the beta round being applied to enhance the Fund’s impact.
More than 17,000 veterans and their families have received support in building employment readiness and job skills and addressing physical and mental health needs.

In the last 2 years, OCVI has granted over $3 million to nonprofits assisting veterans with the transition to civilian life.

ACCELERATING Impact
Fast Forward Change for Good

After discovering the shocking barriers our veterans face in reintegrating into civilian life—such as 30% unemployment rates and 35% of veterans working jobs at or below the poverty level—the Orange County Community Foundation mobilized. The OC Veterans Initiative (OCVI) aligns donors, businesses and community leaders to address the needs of service women and men. Today, OCVI supports veterans in navigating employment, finances, housing and physical and mental health care.

AREAS OF FUNDING
For many terminally ill patients, dying at home is not an option. Whether due to difficult living situations, a lack of family and friends who can care for them in their final days, or the limitations of insurance coverage, many people find themselves in a housing crisis at the end of life.

The Heavenly Home Project will change that for hundreds of people in Orange County. Our six-bedroom residential care home will allow people to complete their lives with peace and dignity, spending their final days making meaningful memories with loved ones.

An anonymous friend of SoCal Hospice Foundation is helping us to jumpstart our Heavenly Home Endowment with the Million Dollar Match campaign. This giving opportunity allows your contribution to continue into perpetuity, doubling its impact and ensuring sustainability for the Heavenly Home.

Naming opportunities are also available. We invite you to join us and transform the way we live at the end of life.

VOLUNTEER OPPORTUNITIES
Join our Hospice Advisory Council, a robust group of community leaders who are dedicated to raising funds and awareness for the Heavenly Home Project. Your efforts will help us to expand our reach, and provide greater comfort, dignity, and respect for those facing their final journey.

GOALS FOR 2020
- Complete the renovations for the Heavenly Home Project, slated to open in 2021 as Orange County’s first nonprofit end-of-life care home
- Raise 1 Million Dollars to meet our Million Dollar Matching Grant for the Heavenly Home Endowment, designed to offset the operating costs of the Heavenly Home.
- Expand our Bereavement Services by creating a network of resources for those who are grieving the loss of a loved one.

Everyone Belongs

@ the Y

Now more than ever, children and families are searching for a place to belong and feel safe. Daily we are hearing and reading stories of children feeling unwelcomed, unwanted and unseen. With nowhere else to turn, they face tragic life-altering choices. We meet parents every day who are juggling work, finances, relationships, parenting, and so much more that struggle to find the support they need to thrive. We see our senior community alone and longing for connections and interaction. People of all ages and backgrounds are struggling to reach their full potential. But where there is a need, the YMCA of Orange County can help.

The Y helps to strengthen communities and individuals through...

Youth Development

The Y nurtures the potential of every child and teen by supporting their development through holistic programming. With a child and youth development program that meets the demands of today’s families, camps that give kids the opportunity for growth, and programs like Safety Around Water that give children and parents confidence, the Y provides all youth with the tools and resources they need to succeed in life.

Healthy Living

The Y aims to improve Orange County’s health and well-being by providing programs and activities that promote wellness, reduce risk for disease and help others reclaim their health. We achieve this through a supportive health and fitness community, sports and recreation, youth obesity awareness, and opportunities for families to build strong bonds.

Social Responsibility

We know that when we work together, we move individuals, families and communities forward. Without our donors, volunteers, staff, and community supporters, we could not effectively respond to society's most pressing needs and develop innovative, community-based solutions to help those in need to reach their full potential.
