Master-Planned Beginnings to a Multicultural Future

Since incorporating 50 years ago in 1971, Irvine has grown from a master-planned community to a forward-thinking City focused on diversity, equity, and inclusion.

When the Irvine Company announced plans for the largest planned city in the Western Hemisphere in 1970, everyone took notice. The proposed City would include 53,000 acres; be twice the size of San Francisco; and prioritize family, safety, environment, and community. The following year, December 28, 1971, the City of Irvine was incorporated.

Irvine has grown from more than 10,000 residents in 1971 to more than 307,000 residents in 2021. It is now home to more than 17,000 businesses and several robust industry clusters including life sciences, information technology, aerospace, advanced manufacturing, and digital arts and media. Irvine is committed to protecting native and endangered species that call the Irvine Open Space Preserve home and continues to prioritize climate change initiatives that value our region's natural resources.

Irvine began as a City rich in agricultural and military history, and continues to be a community in which cultural diversity is celebrated and supported through arts, programs, special events, and multilingual and multicultural outreach efforts. The City remains committed to embracing all cultures, individuals, and ethnic groups as a fundamental principle to its success and future growth.

Looking Forward

Exciting City initiatives in the works for 2021 and beyond:

The Irvine ACHIEVES resolution, setting climate goals for the City, including a goal of becoming carbon neutral by 2030.

Formation of the Ad Hoc Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion Committee to ensure the City of Irvine sets the standard on inclusivity and a level playing field for all.

$17.7 million for rent relief to help Irvine residents pay any deferred payments and prepare for economic recovery.

$2 million pilot program offering City residents a neighborhood shuttle to local shopping centers and destination stops.

$27 million toward upgrades for three City libraries with state-of-the-art technology, resources, and meeting space.

Commitment to support affordable housing for City residents.

Diversity, Equity, Inclusion for All

Irvine has long been recognized as one of the most ethnically diverse and fully integrated cities in the country. On January 26, 2021, the Irvine City Council unanimously adopted We Are Irvine — a diversity, equity, and inclusion resolution reaffirming residents, businesses, and visitors have access to fair and equal opportunities.

Through this resolution, the We Are Irvine initiative was developed. As a result of this effort, the City has created collateral materials in the top eight languages spoken and read in Irvine, ensuring that all outreach and events are accessible to its diverse residents.

The City has also sought cultural experts' advice on multilingual communication practices and leveraged nonprofits and educational partners — including South Coast Chinese Cultural Center (SCCCC), Orange County Asian and Pacific Islander Community Alliance (OCAPIA), Orange County Multicultural Institute for Development (OMID), Abrazar, Irvine Public Schools Foundation, Korean American Center, UC Irvine, Irvine Valley College, and more — to better connect with residents and communities throughout the City.

Did You Know?

- ✓ Irvine offers marketing and resources in Farsi, Korean, Chinese (simplified and traditional), Japanese, Spanish, Vietnamese, and Arabic — with plans to add more translations.
- ✓ The City's website is available in more than 80 different languages.
- ✓ A translation language phone line has been implemented, allowing any caller or visitor to access City information and services in their preferred language.
- ✓ The We Are Irvine lecture series pilot program is underway, offering an introduction to local government and City resources to Chinese-speaking newcomers. Additional lecture series targeting more communities in Irvine are in development with local partners.
- ✓ Irvine supports active international programs and has sister city relationships with Tsukuba, Japan; Hermosillo, Mexico; Taoyuan, Taiwan; and Seocho-gu, Korea.

Irvine Police Department Stays Innovative to Keep City Residents Safe and Protected

Irvine is one of the safest cities in America, with the lowest rate of violent crime per capita of any city in the nation with a population of 250,000 or more. The Irvine Police Department continues to provide innovative and creative ways for the public to connect with police, including: video conferences to report crime, an online portal to submit police reports, and free bicycle registration through Project 529 in the event of theft.

The Irvine Police Department also works hard to keep residents protected from natural disasters and emergencies, recently launching an updated all-hazard evacuation map and a unique Hi/Lo Siren to alert the community in the case an evacuation is needed.

Know Your Zone

- ▶ Irvine has 116 evacuation zones in the City, broken down by neighborhood location.
- ▶ Emergency notifications are sent through AlertOC and Wireless Emergency Alerts.
- ▶ The new Hi/Lo Siren plays safety messages in multiple languages.

Coming Together During COVID-19

The City of Irvine has been on the forefront of the fight against COVID-19 from the very start of the pandemic. It launched a COVID-19 Task Force, established a helpline email for community questions, and partnered with local government agencies to effectively communicate daily health updates and advisories to residents.

The City's Emergency Operations Center activated for more than 480 days — the longest in Irvine's 50-year history — to coordinate resources, information, and crisis communications amid the pandemic. The Irvine Cares campaign encouraged residents to wear a mask and get vaccinated, and resulted in thousands of individuals and businesses pledging to protect themselves and their neighbors.

The City of Irvine shifted many of its services to virtual formats to support residents' well-being and ensure the ongoing health and safety of the community. Residents can submit requests through the Access Irvine app, participate in civic meetings through Zoom, and manage permit requests through IrvineREADY!

Through partnerships with local health agencies, the City has:

- Hosted 24 vaccination clinics
- Operated a drive-thru mass-vaccination clinic at Great Park
- Administered more than 13,500 vaccinations
- Achieved a vaccination rate of more than 80%
- Achieved the lowest positive testing rate in the county

Putting Irvine Residents First

Irvine continues to receive accolades highlighting the special attributes of the City that put its residents first. Here are just a few of Irvine's proud achievements in 2020–21:

- ▶ Best City to Live In, Orange County Register
- ▶ No. 1 in Fiscal Strength Across the Country, Truth in Accounting
- ▶ No. 7 Park System in the Nation, Trust for Public Land
- ▶ Safest City of its Size for 16th Consecutive Year, according to FBI
- ▶ 3rd Best City to Raise a Family, #1 Place to Start a Business in California, 8th Healthiest City in America, WalletHub.com
- ▶ Achievement of Excellence in Procurement Award, National Procurement Institute
- ▶ Integrated Pest Management Achievement Award, California Environmental Protection Agency Department of Pesticide Regulation

Staying Green & Keeping Cool

Irvine strives to continuously provide a better world to its younger residents and is on the forefront of environmental responsibility in Orange County: offering ample opportunities for biking and carpooling to reduce air pollution, passing environmentally-friendly resolutions, and launching new initiatives to better engage the community in climate action efforts.

Taking Action

The City of Irvine is taking several steps to identify climate impacts and prepare for a climate-resilient future.

2019–2020

City leads the formation of the first Community Choice Energy initiative in Orange County in an effort to give consumers clean energy choices and reduce GHG emissions.

November 2020

Irvine and Fullerton execute a Joint Powers Agreement to form the Orange County Power Authority, a nonprofit supporting clean, renewable energy sources.

August 11, 2021

City adopts Irvine ACHIEVES, becoming the first City in Orange County to commit to becoming carbon neutral by 2030.

October 2020

City establishes a Local Hazard Mitigation Plan to make Irvine a safer place to live, work, and visit.

June 2021

City begins developing a Climate Action and Adaptation Plan.

August 19, 2021

City invites residents to join the Cool City Challenge, a call-to-action supporting climate action change and sustainability.

A Good Connection is Music to Your Ears

Singer/Songwriter Giana Nguyen didn't exactly set out to own a nontraditional music studio with primarily children as students, but that is exactly what happened when she opened Dancing Keys Music Studio in Irvine.

In 2012, Nguyen was focusing on her music career when her former business partner found her online after hearing one of her songs playing on a local radio station. He sought her out for her contemporary style. A longtime pianist, at the time she was teaching piano to a few students from home and seeking new business opportunities. He approached to collaborate, and she jumped at the opportunity.

Together with a third partner, they opened Dancing Keys Music Studio in March 2013 as the only commercial studio in Orange County to specialize in the Australian-developed piano method from Simply Music, the world leader in playing-based music education. In the years since opening, Nguyen has transitioned to be the sole owner of the studio but she and her team have continued to bring this multi-sensory piano approach to families throughout the region. In early 2020 this approach was amplified by the COVID-19 pandemic when the studio that only offered in-person lessons had to quickly close and pivot to online instruction.

"We had our own spring break in a sense where we didn't teach lessons and figured out how to keep serving our students," explains Nguyen. A mic stand with a smart phone clipped onto it could serve as an overhead camera and Zoom would become the new classroom. She went to a local music store to buy all the equipment and pulled together her instructors for technical training and implementation. In one week, the business shifted completely online with all instructions taking place remotely.

"Our community of students and parents are very resilient, adaptive, and everyone jumped on board."

She adds, "Cox Business internet has been the ticket to making this all happen. There is no way we would be able to do this without a fast and reliable broadband connection."

Dancing Keys Music Studio was able to provide virtual lessons throughout the 2020 shut downs and her client base grew as more parents wanted to find a way to keep their children engaged safely in STEAM activities. "Music really served as an outlet during this hard time for students and instructors alike," said Nguyen.

This sentiment was on full display for the community in December of 2020 when the studio hosted a Zoom holiday showcase. Parents decorated or created backdrops in their own homes for when their child was spotlighted on screen. They were able to connect and cheer each other on via the platform. This past June as California re-opened, Dancing Keys Music Studio hosted an outdoor concert in the courtyard of Woodbridge Village Center for students' families and the community at large. These "Piano Parties" have always served as catalyst for students to publicly showcase the joy of music.

Earlier this year, following the state lifting mandates on operations and masks, Nguyen started operating as a hybrid studio where students can take both virtual lessons at home or in-person lessons at the Woodbridge Village Center location. She even has group lessons where one student participates from home and the rest in her studio. As of August 2021, sixty percent of her students are doing virtual lessons and the team still utilizes technology, physical distancing, air filters in each room, and a robust cleaning schedule for in-studio lessons.

IRVINE: THE CITY OF EDUCATION

Bryan Starr
President & CEO,
Greater Irvine Chamber,
Economic Development,
Destination Irvine

It's not surprising that Irvine is one of the best places in the nation to receive an education, from K-12 to Ph.D. More than six decades ago, Irvine was master-planned with education in mind. Visionary city leaders knew that prioritizing education would be the key to the city's long-term economic vitality and quality of life, so they designed the city around a research institution — known today as the University of California, Irvine (UCI).

As the city has developed, so has its portfolio of outstanding schools, colleges, and universities. Today, there are 15 colleges and universities that have a physical presence in Irvine:

- California State University, Fullerton
- Chapman University, Rinker Health Science Campus
- Concordia University Irvine
- Fashion Institute of Design and Merchandising
- George Washington University
- Hancock International College
- Irvine Adult School
- Irvine Valley College
- Pepperdine University
- Stanbridge University
- University of California, Irvine
- University of California, Orange County Academic Center
- University of LaVerne, Orange County Regional Campus
- University of Massachusetts, Global
- Webster University
- Westcliff University

With an abundance of post-secondary education options, Irvine is home to a highly-educated community. According to a 2020 U.S. Census Bureau report, about 69% of adult Irvine residents have a bachelor's degree or higher, more than double the national (32%) and state (34%) figures. Moreover, the quality of the education students receive here is exemplary — a fact numerous rankings confirm.

UCI is one of the world's leading education and research institutes. More than 37,000 students enrolled last year — approximately 29,600 undergraduates and 7,375 general and health sciences graduate students. UCI has been ranked a Top 10 Public University seven years in a row by U.S. News & World Report, the #1 Best College in the U.S. by Money in 2019, and a Top 10 Cool School in the U.S. for Sustainability by Sierra magazine for 12 years.

The New York Times named UCI #1 among U.S. universities Doing the Most for the American Dream in 2017 and 2015 College Access Indexes. The ranking measures economic diversity based on several factors: the share of students receiving Pell Grants (which typically go to families making less than $70,000 a year); the graduation rate of those students; the net cost, after financial aid, that a college charges low- and middle-income students; and endowment per student.

Orange County's premier private university, Chapman University, serves nearly 10,000 students annually — approximately 7,400 undergraduate and 2,300 graduate students. Chapman is ranked #37 (tied) for Best Undergraduate Teaching, #57 for Most Innovative Schools, and #122 (tied) in National Universities by U.S. News and World Report. The university's Dale E. Fowler School of Law has been ranked in the nation's Top 10 law schools for best quality of life and #134 overall by The Princeton Review. Chapman is also recognized for its Argyros School of Business, Crean College speech-language pathology programs, and others. The Hollywood Reporter ranks Chapman's Dodge College of Film and Media Arts the #4 Top American Film Schools.

Chapman's Harry and Diane Rinker Health Science Campus in Irvine is home to the highly-ranked School of Pharmacy and several graduate programs within the Crean College of Health and Behavioral Sciences.

A College for the Community

Students can enter post-secondary education at a community college with one of the region's highest transfer rates to UC schools, and is an affordable option: Irvine Valley College (IVC). With the Irvine Valley Promise, IVC offers eligible first-time, full-time IVC students two years of free tuition, bookstore vouchers, designated counseling resources, and other resources to help them succeed. This past year, IVC offered more financial aid than ever — more than $20 million, including scholarships, grants, and work-study.

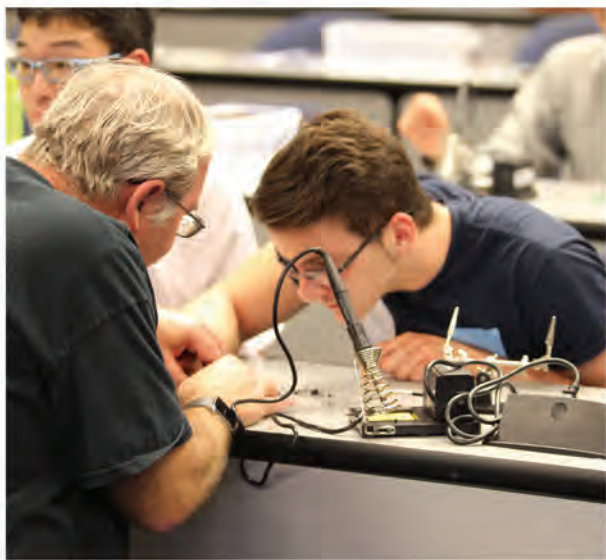

Each year, IVC serves 22,000 students from Irvine and local communities and offers more than 100 career-ready degrees and certificates, and pathways in 21 in-demand industries.

Educating Irvine's Youth

Irvine's youth are prepared for higher learning at some of the nation's finest K-12 schools.

Irvine Unified School District (IUSD) high schools have been consistently ranked top in the nation by Newsweek's List of America's Top High Schools. It serves about 36,000 students annually through 40 schools and other programs. IUSD has ranked among California's highest performing school districts in math and English language arts and literacy for the past two years, outperforming Orange County and State score averages. IUSD schools have been awarded the California Distinguished Schools/Gold Ribbon designation 77 times since 1986. IUSD high school SAT scores consistently rank top in Orange County and the state.

More than 96% of Irvine residents have graduated from high school, exceeding the national figure of 88%.

IUSD is the fastest-growing school district in California. Since 2012, IUSD has opened eight state-of-the-art schools:

- Jeffrey Trail Middle School (opened in 2012)
- Cypress Village Elementary School (2014)
- Portola Springs Elementary School (2015)
- Portola High School (2016)
- Beacon Park School (K-8) (2016)
- Eastwood Elementary School (2017)
- Cadence Park School (K-8) (2018)
- Loma Ridge Elementary School (2019)

Irvine's newest school, Solis Park School (K-8), located at the north end of the Great Park Neighborhoods, officially broke ground in September and is expected to open in 2022.

Community Partners

In addition to Irvine's world-class schools and distinguished educators and administrators, community partners ensure our students have access to quality programs and auxiliary opportunities.

Over its 25-year history, the Irvine Public Schools Foundation, the largest education foundation in California raising funds for public schools, contributed more than $90 million in program and financial support to IUSD.

The Greater Irvine Chamber supports student learning through scholarships and career readiness programs such as its award-winning Career Edge soft-skills series for students attending colleges, universities, high schools, and academies in Orange County and Southern California. The Chamber's semester-long Ethics Forum, for Irvine high school students, is designed to teach students the process of ethical decision-making, using common ethical dilemmas to determine criteria and respond appropriately.

The Greater Irvine Chamber celebrates Irvine's world-class education as part of what helps the city live up to its promise as a model master-planned community and its ability to sustain economic vitality by ensuring a continued skilled workforce.

During its Oct. 13 Distinguished Educators event, the Greater Irvine Chamber will recognize outstanding Irvine educators and STEAM (science, technology, engineering, arts, and mathematics) programs offered in the city. ●

World-Class Health Care for a World-Renowned City

Congratulations to the City of Irvine on celebrating 50 years of cityhood.

Hoag is honored to be your health care partner for life.

Wishing You the Best of Health, from Our Village to Yours

Fifty years ago, when residents of the then-unincorporated community of Irvine voted to become Orange County's 26th city, Daily Pilot reporter George Leidal compared their journey to another historic milestone.

"It isn't every day a reporter gets a chance to observe the birth of a new city," he wrote. "Somehow the past few weeks have led me to feel like I've just been assigned to cover, via time capsule, the sailing of the Mayflower."

Irvine's journey over the past 50 years has indeed been one for the history books. From a modest community of just 10,000 residents in 1971, Irvine has steadily and purposefully turned its audacious vision into reality. Today it is a thriving, pioneering, globally acclaimed city of innovation with a diverse and highly educated population approaching 308,000.

Hoag, which was established in 1952, has proudly been there for Irvine's entire eventful history, having served its residents through the decades with outstanding health care from its hospitals in Newport Beach and Irvine, and a growing network of urgent care centers and comprehensive health care villages in Irvine. And as exciting and momentous as the past half-century has been, we are certain the best is still to come in our partnership with Irvine and its residents.

From women's specialized health care needs, to next-generation cancer care, to advanced digestive health research and treatment and more, Hoag Irvine continues to grow with Irvine. Over the past decade alone, Hoag has invested in new Irvine medical facilities, programs, technology and medical personnel, as part of our expanding commitment to provide world-class health care to a world-renowned city.

This past summer, Hoag was named among the top 1% of the hospitals in the nation to achieve top ratings in all 17 procedures and conditions evaluated by U.S. News & World Report and the #1 hospital in Orange County for the fifth straight year. That puts us in a league with the likes of Cleveland Clinic and Mayo Clinic-Phoenix. We lead the nation in the seven chronic conditions used in the evaluation: chronic obstructive pulmonary disease; diabetes; heart attack; heart failure; kidney failure; pneumonia; and stroke.

We're honored that the excellence, innovation and compassion of our physician leaders and health care workers have been recognized nationally. But we're prouder still that we're able to provide it to our valued neighbors – right here in Irvine.

Achieving Educational Excellence Through Partnership

As the City of Irvine celebrates its 50th anniversary, Irvine Public Schools Foundation (IPSF) is proud to also be celebrating its own anniversary – 25 years of enriching the educational experience of each child in every school in the Irvine Unified School District (IUSD). What started as a group of concerned parents wanting the best education for their children has now evolved into one of the leading education foundations in the nation. IPSF's mission to provide programs, raise funds, and unite the community in support of educational excellence has resulted in tremendous impact in the quality and equity in Irvine schools.

The Power of Partnership

Despite being one of the lowest funded school districts per pupil in the country, receiving 26% less per student than the national average, Irvine schools have sustained their success in an increasingly challenging educational environment due to the dedication and commitment of the entire community. IPSF's strategic partnerships with the City of Irvine, local businesses, and community leaders, continue to provide critical additional funding to sustain and enhance school-day and afterschool student programs that might otherwise not be possible.

"IPSF is deeply grateful for the City of Irvine's leadership with the Challenge Match Grant for the past twelve years, an unprecedented commitment to match all donations contributed to the foundation up to $1.3 million," commented Neda Eaton, Irvine Public Schools Foundation President and CEO. "This long-term investment embodies the City's commitment to educational excellence while inspiring and leveraging additional community and corporate support to ensure quality public education for more than 36,000 students."

Strengthened by its partnerships, IPSF remains committed to providing essential funding support for programs such as class size reduction, music, STEAM initiatives, robust afterschool and summer programs, grants to teachers for innovative teaching methods, and funding for mental health, athletic trainers and school nurses.

Stepping Up for Students

From small businesses to global leaders, corporate supporters understand that educational excellence in Irvine is crucial to maintaining the City's position as a leader in innovation and one of the greatest places to live in the nation. By working together as a community united, we can prepare and nurture the next generation of community and corporate leaders who will propel this region forward for years to come.

"It takes an entire community dedicated to education to keep Irvine at the leading edge," agrees City of Irvine Mayor Farrah N. Khan. "The City of Irvine is deeply committed to our partnership with IPSF to support educational excellence for all students, ensuring that Irvine schools remain among the top in the nation."

Inspiring Tomorrow's Leaders

IPSF continues to explore new approaches to inspire interest in STEAM fields

where qualified talent is most in-demand by collaborating on programs and events that bring together academic and corporate partners. One example is the 21st Century Career Conference, which provides middle school students the opportunity to learn about career paths from some of OC's top companies including Google and Blizzard. In partnership with Broadcom Foundation, the IUSD Science Fair encourages curiosity and challenges participants to explore new approaches to existing issues. Opportunities for early exposure to real-world application of academic study has proven to be a successful formula for inspiring more interest in STEAM-related fields and majors.

With so many academic and social emotional challenges facing students today, it is more important than ever that they have access to enrichment opportunities that spark curiosity and provide a creative outlet. IPSF has helped create a growing number of collaborations with corporate and educational partners to enhance students' K-12 educational journeys, so they are prepared to meet the challenges of today and of the future.

If you are interested in learning more about partnering with IPSF to provide students with leading-edge educational opportunities, please contact President and CEO Neda Eaton at neaton@ipsf.net. To learn more about Irvine Public Schools Foundation, visit www.ipsf.net.

IPSF.NET/CURIOUS

AT IRVINE PUBLIC SCHOOLS FOUNDATION, we nurture the spark of curiosity in each child to ignite a life-long love of learning. By providing opportunities to grow and discover their unique gifts, talents, and passions, we can help ensure the next generation is prepared to take on the challenges of tomorrow.

For 25 years, IPSF has been uniting the community in support of educational excellence. Our partnership with the City of Irvine and their groundbreaking Challenge Match Grant — matching all donations to IPSF up to $1.3 million — continues to inspire corporate and community partners to join us in our mission to enrich the educational experience of each child in every school. Together we have provided over $90 million in grants and programs to ensure a brighter future for children since 1996...and we're just getting started!

Join us

on October 21 as we TURN IRVINE ORANGE to raise awareness and funds for educational excellence during IPSF Giving Day. Thanks to our City of Irvine partnership, every contribution will be matched dollar for dollar, doubling the impact for students and schools.

Orthopedic and Spine Care: It's All We Do

Trust the Experts at Hoag Orthopedic Institute to "Get You Back to You"

When it comes to orthopedic and spine care, it doesn't get any better than Hoag Orthopedic Institute (HOI) – that's because it's the only thing we do.

Ranked in the Top 1% the nation by U.S. News & World Report, HOI is not just several convenient locations in your Orange County backyard, but OC's only specialty hospital and ambulatory surgery center network whose dedication to patient outcomes, safety and experience sets it apart from the rest.

Here's why you should choose Hoag Orthopedic Institute for your orthopedic and spine care:

The HOI Experience: An Environment Like No Other
Patient experience matters. When you go in for surgery, you trust your doctor and the facility to know what they are doing; but the truth is that the environment you're having surgery in is important too. At HOI, it's no secret that our goal is to "Get You Back to You" more quickly and safely so that you can spend less time in the hospital or surgery center and you can get back to doing what you love without pain. However, it is vital that our patients have an exceptional experience. Accomplishing this means proactively engaging with patients, actively listening to their feedback and identifying ways to enhance their overall visit with us. Patients often report that the environment, service and care at HOI is 'luxurious,' and we aim to ensure they are as comfortable and accommodated as possible.

This has resulted in HOI being recognized for consistently delivering unparalleled service, as evidenced by three Press Ganey Patient Experience awards for 2020, including: Guardian of Excellence® for Patient Experience for the seventh consecutive year, the Pinnacle of Excellence® for Patient Experience in HCAHPS for maintaining consistently high levels of excellence over multiple years, and the Pinnacle of Excellence® for Patient Experience in "Inpatient" for maintaining consistently high levels of excellence over multiple years.

Choose the Best – Highest Ranked in Orange County and Top 1% in the Nation

HOI is honored to once again be named the #1 hospital in Orange County and among the Top 1% in the nation by U.S. News & World Report's "2021-2022 Best Hospitals List." In addition to this distinction, U.S. News has also recognized HOI as "High Performing" in Spinal Fusion, Hip Fracture, Hip Replacement, and Knee Replacement for 2021-2022. This is the 7th year that HOI has been nationally ranked among the nation's top 50 best orthopedic hospitals.

Highest Volume Provider on The West Coast

As the saying goes, practice makes perfect, and more patients choose HOI than any other hospital West of the Mississippi for their joint replacement procedures. Not only are our physicians orthopedic and spine experts who are fellowship and specialty trained, but our staff are as well. Orthopedics and spine – it's all we do — and our nursing, physical therapy and care team staff members focus exclusively on orthopedic and spine cases. You can rest assured that you are being cared for by the best of the best. For the eighth consecutive year, HOI performed the highest volume of joint replacement procedures in the state of California according to data from the Office of Statewide Health Planning and Development (OSHPD). Numerous studies indicate that the more surgeries you perform, the better the result.

Focus on Safety in a Time of COVID

While safety has always been a top priority at HOI, in the age of COVID it has become even more paramount. During the recent COVID pandemic, we have added additional testing and use other stringent procedures to ensure patients and hospital staff are COVID-free before and after surgery. This infection control protocol designed by HOI is so effective at the elimination of potential infections, especially COVID, that it has been shared with and adopted by other hospitals around the state.

A new study from Rothman Institute found that orthopedic specialty hospitals – like Hoag Orthopedic Institute (HOI) which only treat patients with musculoskeletal conditions – are associated with lower rates of surgical site infections (SSI) when compared to tertiary care institutions, which are typically academic hospitals. The study found that SSI were found in 0.6 percent of patients who underwent surgery at a tertiary hospital and 0.2 percent in patients who underwent surgery at an orthopedic specialty hospital.

This study underscores why it is so important for patients to do some homework about the hospital or facility that their orthopedic surgeon selects for their surgery. Infection control measures at Hoag Orthopedic Institute are robust and meaningful and the process of ensuring better outcomes and reducing infection risk begins way before your surgery, including immunizations, vigorous testing and at-home measures.

Between each surgery, HOI uses a robot to eliminate germs in the operating room among a host of other additional infection control measures.

City of Hope Orange County's Commitment to Irvine

Congratulations to the City of Irvine on half a century of tremendous growth and progress. City of Hope could not have picked a better place to build our world-class cancer campus – right here in one of America's greatest cities. We're thankful for the warm welcome we've received from community leaders and residents and we're coming here as a good neighbor.

Just like the city we are honored to call our new home, City of Hope is setting the standard for the nation. We are delivering advanced cancer care closer to where people live and work. Four clinical locations – including one in Irvine – are now open in Orange County. And our cancer center will be open in 2022.

Our promise is real. Our bonds are tight. Here is what we commit to this incredible city for its next half-century and beyond.

Shared Vision

Irvine was founded on a vision to transform America's cities, ushering a new era of planned communities designed for the way people live, work, and play. Similarly, City of Hope is delivering our big vision to the area – to speed advanced cancer services closer to peoples' homes, relieving the burden of traveling long distances for advanced care. Here in Irvine, we will keep thinking big and bold together.

World-Class Expertise

Just as Irvine attracts the world's top experts in academia, technology, and other sectors, City of Hope Orange County is where many of today's leading cancer researchers and clinicians choose to work. They join the more than 1,000 cancer experts throughout our organization who focus on one thing – treating and one day curing cancer.

Diversity

Irvine is a community that embraces its diversity, creating an environment that grows strong from the contributions of its people. Likewise, City of Hope is building a cancer center and workplace that promotes diversity, equity, and inclusion. We understand that cancer does not discriminate. One in three Americans of every background will receive a cancer diagnosis. We are addressing this disease together.

Advancing Innovation

Irvine is the home of more start-ups than many other California cities. City of Hope, too, has a long history of innovation. We are at the leading edge of immunotherapy and CAR-T cell therapy. We pioneered stem cell and bone marrow transplants. Four of today's most widely-used cancer drugs were developed thanks to research that began at our facilities. This legacy will continue – and flourish – in Irvine.

Compassionate care

Science alone cannot address all our patients' needs. We approach our work with compassion, offering nationally recognized supportive care services. City of Hope will continue to partner with a wide range of community organizations to improve the health of our community.

City of Hope may be 100 years old and Irvine 50, but we have just begun together. As we see it, our collective future is looking – to use our favorite word – hopeful. Happy birthday, Irvine. Thank you again for welcoming us. We can't wait to see what the next 50 years brings.

The Travel & Tourism Industry Plays A Critical Role in Restoring the Economy

The COVID-19 pandemic caused global economic hardship, with the travel industry being the hardest hit, even more so than it was during the Great Recession. Prior to the pandemic, travel spending in Irvine contributed nearly $781 million to the city's economy, supporting nearly 6,000 jobs and generating nearly $50 million in state and local tax revenue. In 2020 there was a nearly 57% decline in travel spending and a loss of approximately 1,570 jobs, proving just how important the economic impact of corporate meetings and sporting events are to the Irvine community.

According to the 2019 and 2020 Visitor Impact reports conducted specifically for Irvine and the State of California by Dean Runyan Associates, on behalf of Destination Irvine and Visit California, Orange County as a whole also saw travel spending decrease by 57% year over year. In comparison, the U.S. travel industry contracted 36% in 2020, whereas California's travel economy declined 55% from $144.9 billion in 2019 to $65.1 billion in 2020.

Despite losses due to the coronavirus pandemic, Orange County is well-positioned for recovery due to the state reopening, U.S. vaccination numbers continuing to increase, and the lifting of pandemic-related restrictions. Leisure travel continues to rise with more than three-quarters of Americans planning to take a trip this summer, signaling that pent-up demand generates bookings.

Destination Irvine's role of marketing and selling Irvine as a preferred overnight destination for groups, sports events, leisure visitors, and business travelers plays a significant role in the recovery of travel to the city and lending to increased visitor spending for the betterment of the community.

Group business is returning to Irvine. May was the fourth consecutive month our destination sales team received more than 20 leads for future group business, the most since March 2020. In the past four months, Destination Irvine has booked nearly 4,900 room nights worth nearly $1.5 million in economic impact for the city.

Destination Irvine increased its leisure marketing to include Visit California opportunities leveraging the state's popularity as a desirable travel destination. And, we've allocated additional dollars to our Expedia and TripAdvisor campaigns, which generate a solid return on investment.

Hosting a Meeting in Irvine Supports the Local Economy & Enhances the Quality of Life for Residents

When conferences and meetings are held in Irvine, transient occupancy tax revenues (paid by hotel guests) and sales tax revenues are generated through visitors dining and shopping, etc. These taxes help support services like police, fire, and education. So it makes economic sense if you are an Irvine-based company or organization to host your annual or corporate meeting in Irvine. If you serve on a state, national, or international association board that has an annual conference or regional meeting, help support Irvine as a meeting destination and hold your meeting in Irvine. Destination Irvine offers Irvine-based companies financial incentives to encourage locally planned meetings; the Loyalty Pays Off program.

Why and How the City of Irvine Was Formed

A Master Plan for development of the Irvine Ranch was created by the architect William Pereira in the early 1960's. This Master Plan provided for future developments of residential, industrial, and commercial properties on the Irvine Ranch. As a result, the Irvine Company marketed land in the Irvine Industrial Complex and properties were sold to major industrial companies such as Lockheed, McDonnell Douglas, and Collins Radio.

Portions of the Irvine Industrial Complex were adjacent to the cities of Newport Beach, Costa Mesa and Santa Ana. These cities annexed portions of the Irvine Industrial Complex to obtain property tax revenues. The remainder of the property was under the jurisdiction of the County of Orange.

Some of the first residential developments on the ranch in the 1960's were The Villages of University Park and Turtle Rock. In 1969 a group of residents living in those Villages were concerned that additional annexation of the Irvine Industrial Complex land by the other surrounding cities would result in higher property taxes on the residential properties remaining in the County. The reason for this is that industrial land produces a higher tax base than residential land and provides more tax revenue to support city services.

The residents created an organization called COIN which was shorthand for "City of Irvine Now". This organization did the financial analysis and filed an application with the County of Orange, Local Agency Formation Commission ("LAFCO") to form the City of Irvine. This application created a huge political issue because the County of Orange Board of Supervisors wanted to retain control over the Irvine Ranch.

COIN hired me to represent the organization to create the new City of Irvine. The first issue that had to be resolved was an existing agreement between the the Irvine Company and the City of Santa Ana which obligated The Irvine Company to annex portions of the Irvine Industrial Complex into the City of Santa Ana. We filed a lawsuit contending the agreement was invalid because the state legislature created LAFCO and was the final arbiter of city formation in the State. We won that case and resolved the issue.

The formation of the City required hearings before LAFCO. The members of LAFCO were two members of the Board of Supervisors, Mr. Ron Caspers and Mr. Robert Battin, along with various representatives from cities within the County of Orange. One city representative from the City of Anaheim was Charles Pearson who supported the formation of the City of Irvine.

Prior to the final hearing of LAFCO on the proposed City of Irvine, the Board of Supervisors attempted to remove Charles Pearson and replace him with a City Councilman who opposed formation of the city.

We heard about this on the Friday prior to the Monday meeting of LAFCO. We filed a restraining order with the Superior Court and were prepared to serve the two supervisors prior to the LAFCO meeting on Monday. The supervisors attempted to evade service of the restraining order and tried to call the meeting to order and move to replace the Anaheim representative as they were walking into the meeting room. We were able to serve them as they were walking into the meeting. We told the County Counsel, who was representing LAFCO, that we set a hearing that afternoon before the Superior Court to hold the members of LAFCO in contempt for their actions. The County Counsel advised the LAFCO members that this was not in their best interest.

The rest is history. LAFCO approved the application, and an election was held resulting in the formation of the new city in 1971.

Presented by Timothy L. Strader, Sr. Chairman of Starpointe Ventures and Counsel for COIN in forming the City of Irvine

Easterseals Southern California: Building an Inclusive OC for People with Disabilities

At Easterseals Southern California (ESSC), we believe that our world is stronger when we build an inclusive society in which people with disabilities participate fully in all aspects of life at work, school, at home and in our communities. Our goals for full inclusivity start with our Vision & Impact statement. We set our sights high – by 2030, Southern California will be the most inclusive place for people with disabilities to live, learn, work and play.

Achieving our goal of inclusivity for Southern California will take a renewed focus on our core functions, while expanding and having a greater voice. We have outlined several key strategies for the work ahead:

EXPAND high quality innovative services for people with a disability and their families.

LEAD and improve the disability services field.

CHANGE the way people view disability.

ESSC is building the inclusive future envisioned for the more than 14,000 individuals we support through our services for adults, children and their families throughout Southern California. In fact ESSC is the leading provider of Autism Services, offering families and individuals with important and much needed therapy and disability services. The organization has expanded the number of individuals supported thanks to our centrally located therapy and disability services center in Irvine. Our center is state-of-the-art and helps meet the need for comprehensive clinical therapy services in OC.

Easterseals is a leader in the field of Adult Day Services and a model for other providers. Our person-centered services support individuals to determine their own goals and choices that best support their interests and needs. In the future, we will be opening the Easterseals Pyott Center thanks to a generous $1.75 million donation by the David and Molly Pyott Foundation. The Center, located at the site of ESSC's former corporate offices in Santa Ana, is in the final stages of a complete renovation. This site will provide 200 more individuals with adult services, in addition to the individuals already served at the organization's Brea location.

Change the Way You See Disability

Easterseals' broad mission focuses on changing the way people see disability—we want people to understand the human potential of individuals with disabilities. Our current disability inclusion PSA campaign, "We are the 25%", highlights the fact that 25% of Americans have a disability and everyone wants to live in a world where everyone is 100% included.

Support Easterseals

Easterseals paves the way with programs and services that unlock the potential of each person we serve, regardless of the challenge they may face. Working in partnership, we offer guidance, and provide support so that everyone can reach for and realize their potential. Together, we will help make Southern California a model for full inclusivity. We encourage you to learn more at easterseals.com/southernca.

Congratulations to the City of Irvine on its 50th Anniversary.

Orange County United Way Wishes a Happy 50th Anniversary to the City of Irvine!

We commemorate this milestone by highlighting our partnerships and connections to the city.

Orange County United Way is proud to celebrate the City of Irvine's golden anniversary. Since moving our headquarters to Irvine in 1998, we've cultivated incredible partnerships over the years with inspiring individuals, companies, and groups that make up our community. Thank you for your support and dedication to ensuring our students succeed, our families gain financial security, and our homeless neighbors find a place to call home. We're proud to have you on the Home Team as we lead the fight for equity by removing barriers, closing gaps, and leveling the playing field for everyone who lives in Orange County.

Our Corporate Social Responsibility Champions in Irvine

We're thankful to work with close to 80 corporate partners in Irvine who fundraise, volunteer and advocate to improve lives all over Orange County. The corporations and firms below were the top contributors to our work in the community last year and were recognized at our 2021 Rally for Change corporate social responsibility celebration. These are just some of their accomplishments through our collaboration.

SPOTLIGHT

Edwards

An Orange County United Way partner for 20 years, Edwards Lifesciences was the gracious host and Champion Sponsor of our Rally for Change event. They received the United4OC Award for a large company for embodying an overall spirit of giving through time, leadership, and resources. They have hosted high school students from underserved districts for industry site tours through our Youth Career Connections program, and many of their employees volunteered as e-Mentors in our Class of 2021 program. They also initiated and sustain an Impact Hub at Washington Elementary, which provides essential programs and services in a central location to assist students and help lift families out of poverty.

WARE MALCOMB

In addition to running successful workplace campaigns, Ware Malcomb employees are very engaged with our volunteer opportunities—hosting Youth Career Connections summer interns and collecting items for our supply drives, just to name a few. Chairman Lawrence R. Armstrong serves as the Chair of our United to End Homelessness initiative, and the firm's generosity is evident by the multitude of recognitions and nominations received at our Rally for Change event.

The recipient of the Alexis de Tocqueville Society Award at this year's Rally for Change, KPMG has the most employees giving at the Alexis de Tocqueville Society level—a distinguished honor reflecting this group's commitment to making a positive impact through philanthropy. Last year, during the pandemic, the company donated close to 3,000 books, which were distributed to students from low-income families. Mark W. Clemens, Managing Partner, and Haunani H. Nakabara, Senior Manager, Tax, serve on our United for Student Success Leadership Council.

GIBSON DUNN

A nominee for both the Alexis de Tocqueville Society and United4OC Awards, Gibson, Dunn & Crutcher is a treasured Orange County United Way partner. Through workplace giving campaigns, event sponsorship and volunteer engagement, the company has made a significant impact on our community. A special thanks to William C. Rooklidge, Partner, for leading the charge as an involved President's Circle donor and enthusiastic proponent of our work.

Its passion for education is evident in Eaton Aerospace's emphatic support of our United for Student Success initiative. From hosting industry site tours through our Youth Career Connections program to speaking in classrooms and inspiring interest in STEM careers, Eaton is dedicated to making a difference in the lives of underserved Orange County students. Eaton also contributed to our Healthy Schools Initiative and SparkPoint OC, our financial empowerment program. With all these accomplishments, it's no wonder they were the recipient of our United4OC Award for a medium company.

Help Make a Difference in OC. Join Us.

Orange County United Way is not only making a difference in Irvine, but all over the county. Last year, we served more than 831,000 OC residents through direct services and programs. Irvine Barclay Theatre Congratulates the City of Irvine!

Clint Black performing at the Barclay in 2019

As the City of Irvine commemorates its 50th anniversary, Irvine Barclay Theatre's Board of Directors, staff and volunteers honor and thank the City for its commitment to making world-class performing arts available to everyone in our community.

For more than 30 years Irvine Barclay Theatre and the City of Irvine, together with the University of California, Irvine, have worked together in a unique and, at the time, first-ever public-private performing arts partnership. When the Barclay opened to the public on September 30, 1990, it was the culmination of 17 years of determination and hard work by community volunteers, business leaders and the City's staff and elected officials.

The Barclay project began as one part of a 1974 park bond measure approved by Irvine voters. The initial bond funding allocated $1.5 million to the construction of a community theater. Over the course of more than ten years, as supporters of the theater struggled to find a site for their cultural vision, the City developed the extensive selection of parks, sports fields, aquatic centers and senior centers that help make life in Irvine so enjoyable for so many.

Despite the challenge of finding an appropriate site, Irvine's then-Mayor, Sally Anne Sheridan, and other City of Irvine elected officials remained committed to the importance of a community theater. Their persistence led them to forge a partnership with UCI's then-Chancellor, Jack Peltason. Through that partnership UCI provided the land on which the theater is built.

Dick Sim, an Irvine Company executive and founding Chairman of the Irvine Barclay Theatre Board of Directors, along with Tom Nielsen, Chairman of the Barclay Board of Trustees brought together Irvine businesses and residents eager to see the curtain rise on a community theater – raising more than $4.8 million for the project. The City of Irvine added additional funding and brought construction expertise to the project. And then, in December 1988, construction began. Nearly two years later the $17.6 million state-of-the-art Irvine Barclay Theatre finally evolved from vision into reality.

Jerry Mandel, the respected and award-winning Orange County arts veteran, now oversees Irvine Barclay Theatre as President and Chairman of the Board. He leads a group of volunteer directors that reflects the theater's original partnership structure, with representatives from the City, the university and the community working together to ensure the venue fulfills the promise of its mission: to broaden the scope, availability, and appreciation of performing arts for the benefit of Irvine's residents and those in neighboring Orange County communities.

"We are deeply thankful and grateful for the City of Irvine's vision, creative partnership with us and with UCI, and its on-going support over the past 30 years," said Mandel. "Irvine is a culturally diverse community that has embraced the performing arts, and the City's strong commitment to the performing arts ultimately made it possible for the Barclay to be built and to thrive."

Designed by the San Francisco architectural firm Wurster, Bernardi & Emmons, the intimate 750-seat "jewel box" theater includes a dramatic entrance plaza with a water feature, a two-story lobby, professional stage, orchestra pit, and high-quality production facilities, including a superior acoustical environment. The building is named after Richard Barclay, an area philanthropist who provided a lead gift for the theater's construction. The auditorium, Cheng Hall, is named for the late local philanthropists Dr. George and Arlene Cheng.

Today, Irvine Barclay Theatre is one of California's most imaginative and innovative performing arts venues. A magnet for music, dance, theatre, and other arts patrons throughout Orange County and Southern California the theater has welcomed more than three million visitors who experienced a broad array of performing arts programming with top performers in a wide range of disciplines and genres.

Over the years, the Barclay has become nationally respected for its intimate atmosphere and superb acoustics which create a superior audience experience of the world's best performers. In addition to a recent appearance by world-renowned soprano Renée Fleming, which was co-presented by the Philharmonic Society of Orange, Barclay seasons have included National Geographic Live, fascinating presentations by leading explorers, scientists, and photographers; classic ballet and contemporary dance; a variety of music genres, including one of the leading jazz series on the West Coast; and a speaker series with esteemed authors and other thought leaders.

During the pandemic shutdown of the 2020-21 season, Irvine Barclay Theatre took the opportunity to make many improvements to the auditorium for the comfort of our patrons, including installing new seats and carpet, and upgrading its HVAC system and air-handlers to use hospital-grade filters throughout the building. On September 19, the Barclay launched its new season, raising the curtain on a schedule of live performances for live audiences for the first time in almost two years.

Thank you, City of Irvine, we have enjoyed the first 30 years of our partnership. We look forward with great excitement to the next 30. We couldn't have done it without you!

Irvine Barclay Theatre is located at 4242 Campus Drive in Irvine, adjacent to University of California, Irvine. For more information on performances or to purchase tickets, please visit www.thebarclay.org or call (949) 854-4646.

Providing Compassionate LGBTQ+ Healthcare in Orange County

Radiant Health Centers has been a trusted provider of comprehensive services for people living with HIV for more than 35 years. In 2017, the organization rebranded by changing its name from AIDS Service Foundation to Radiant Health Centers and adopting a broader scope of work.

This rebranding came with a new mission to continue serving those living with HIV, while expanding care to the broader LGBTQ+ community regardless of their HIV status. To achieve its mission to end HIV, Radiant Health Centers made a vow to create healthcare equity for all.

The organization's growth over the past years has allowed it to provide access to comprehensive healthcare and medications to a wider population, in addition to its social services that include a food pantry, mental health services, transitional housing, transportation and special programs designed for children and adults 55 and older.

During this pandemic, Radiant Health Centers continues to provide their services in a safe manner. Their food pantry offers contact free pick-up and home delivery. In-home HIV tests are available through the mail and the organization partners with pharmacies for discreet delivery of prescriptions. They also provide mental health services through secure telehealth channels to minimize face to face contact.

"Throughout our journey to grow and expand, we have remained true to our mission to end the HIV epidemic," stated Philip Yaeger, Radiant Health Centers' CEO and Executive Director. "With more than 7,000 people living with HIV in Orange County, and an estimated 900 who are unaware of their status, it is imperative that we join forces as a community to address the HIV epidemic and stop it in its tracks."

To learn more about Radiant Health Centers and the services provided, please visit www.radianthealthcenters.org.

Our Mission: Radiant Health Centers provides the LGBTQ+ community medical services that are compassionate and comprehensive while continuing to serve those living with and affected by HIV.
Our Vision: LGBTQ+ healthcare equity and the end of the HIV epidemic in Orange County.

Founded in Loving Memory of Naomi Gelman Weiss

Irvine Home to #1 Jewish School in America

In 1991, Irving "Papa" Gelman, a Holocaust survivor and longtime benefactor of education, transformed Jewish Studies Institute into Tarbut V'Torah Community Day School (TVT). Tarbut, which means culture in Hebrew, was the name of the school Gelman attended as a child in Poland. TVT's first location was an office building in Costa Mesa with only 36 students in grades Kindergarten - 6th grade before moving to its current campus in 1997. In 2002, the Upper School Campus opened in Irvine, allowing for the expansion of enrollment in grades from Transitional Kindergarten - 12th Grade.

When "Papa" Gelman stood in the corner of his backyard in Irvine, looking out onto what was an open field, he knew that it would become the incredible school that it is today, now with over 760 students enrolled. On the day of the groundbreaking, "Papa" Gelman had his golden shovel in hand, and the small group of attendees were wearing white caps with the words "If you build it, they will come" embroidered on them. "Papa" Gelman was a true believer in that adage, and he envisioned a Jewish Community Day School, TVT, which would later become the #1 Jewish School in the United States.

Guilt Free Urban Lumber – The Sustainable Choice

West Coast Arborists, Inc. (WCA) is a family owned and operated company, founded by Patrick Mahoney in 1972. WCA provides tree maintenance services to municipalities and public agencies all over California and Arizona. Entering our 50th year in business, WCA has grown into an arboriculture industry leader as can be seen by our qualified employees, advancement in industry certifications, technological improvements, professional affiliations, and sustainable business practices. As a family-owned company, we understand the importance of community. We are tree care professionals serving communities who care about trees.

We take pride in providing communities with gold standard tree services. WCA's goal as a professional tree maintenance and management company is to provide valued expertise to our clientele and provide them with our knowledge to ensure their urban forest is healthy and thriving for years to come. WCA has developed innovative ways to utilize modern technology for urban forest management as well as ways to use urban wood that retains sequestered carbon from being released back into the atmosphere.

25 years ago, WCA started an urban wood recycling program in collaboration with the California Department of Forestry and Fire Protection (CDF). We repurpose recyclable materials removed from trees into firewood, mulch, compost and usable raw lumber. We are salvaging trees lost during storms, disease or normal senescence and recycling this wood through our urban wood recycling program, Street Tree Revival. Our urban wood offers a story unlike any other, as they've been salvaged from our streets.

For more information about our urban wood, please contact John Mahoney at (714) 718-5588 or jmahoney@wcainc.com
